AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held over the course of the Detroit Country Club, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., August 30 to September 4.

One hundred and thirty-eight names comprised the entry list of the Twentieth National Amateur Championship, the only absentees of note being Messrs. Walter J. Travis, Oswald Kirkby, Fred Herreshoff, W. K. Wood and R. R. Gorton. The weather was only fair, being very cold to commence with, and a nasty cross wind blowing across the course, which made low scoring very difficult. The medalist was Dudley Mudge of St. Paul Minn., State champion of Minnesota, who negotiated the course in two strokes lower than his nearest competitor—Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale, who ultimately proved to be the winner of the championship—getting a well played 152, a 79 and a 73. Summary:

MASSACHUSETTS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Woodland Golf Club.

As prognosticated, Francis Ouimet is again champion of the State. He had really no competition, and the manner in which he played the initial round, getting a medal score 6 strokes less than P. W. Whittemore, made it apparent he had, barring accidents, a walk over. Summary:

MASSACHUSETTS OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Massachusetts open championship last year was thrown open to all golfers in the country and played at the Country Club, Brookline, Mass. Walter Hagen, the Rochester "pro" who lost the national title at Baltusrol, won the title with the total of 298, five strokes better than his nearest competitor, who was M. J. Brady, of Wollaston. Gilbert Nicholls, Wilmington, Del., came next with 304, a missed putt of about 15 inches nosing him out of a tie for second place. J. M. Barnes, the Western open champion, and Francis Ouimet tied at 308 for fourth place.

Brady led the field on the first day with 144, Hagen being two strokes more with two 73's and Nicholls taking 149. Barnes had 150, but his 71 on the second round tied Brady for the day's low 18-hole score.

Hagen showed his ability as a "mudder" on the second day, play being in a tropical down-pour and over a course that ran rivers, in some cases over shoe tops. Hagen always plays with his grips coarse and rough, which gave him an advantage in the storm over those who had smooth finished leathers. Two rounds of 76 each in the storm and rain-soaked course showed Hagen's ability. Hagen and Brady started on the last 18 holes on even terms, 222 for each. The Rochester man gained five strokes, however, as Brady took 81. The round of the day that stood out the most prominent, under the conditions, was the 71 made by C. H. Hoffner, Woodbury, N. J., particularly his 34 coming in. This won him fifth money as the new rule prohibited amateurs from receiving the value of the money prize in plate.

BOSTON WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held on the Course of the Brae Burn Country Club.

Miss Vera Ramsay, the young English golf star, won the championship of the Women's Golf Association of Boston on May 28, defeating Miss Margaret Curtis, four-time winner of the title.

It is doubtful if Miss Curtis, playing in her best form, could have defeated Miss Ramsay, though every one in the gallery felt that she would find her game sufficiently to make a keen contest. Oftentimes in tournaments Miss Curtis has had a few bad holes, but there comes a recovery and she settles down to so sterling a quality of play that one forgets what has gone before.

After the first hole had been halved in the afternoon Dyer won five straight and entirely changed the whole aspect of the match. Byers took the short 8th with a 3 to a 4, but was 4 down at the turn.

By defeating Byers on the 10th he reduced his lead to 3 up and on the 11th Dyer got into trouble and took a 6 to a 5. This reduced his lead to two holes, but Byers lost his ball on the 11th and he was again 3 down. Both drove poorly on the 13th, but Byers holed out for a 5 to Dyer's 6.

Byers missed putts on the 14th and lost the hole. Dyer missed a putt for a 4 on the 15th and lost while both took 3's on the 16th. Dyer was on in 3 and Byers in 4 on the 17th and as both took two putts the match went to the Quaker.

The women's individual championship of Philadelphia was decided over the course of the Philadelphia Cricket Club. It generally was conceded that the title remained for either Mrs. Barlow or Mrs. Vanderbeck to win, and in the qualification round the home player led her Merion rival by one stroke. The leading two cards and the scores of the championship sixteen follow:

1, James Maiden, Nassau Country Club, Glen Cove, L. I., N. Y.; 2, Val Flood, Professional; 3, Peter Robertson, Yammundasis Golf Club, Utica, N. Y.; 4, Wm. H. Potts, Professional, Apawamis Club, Rye, N. Y.; 5, W. E. Dunt, Professional, Onondaga Golf Club, Syracuse, N. Y.; 6, Jack Mackie, Dunwoodle Golf Club, Yonkers, N. Y.; 7, Tom Hancock, Elmira (N. Y.) Country Club.

The semi-final brought Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. Vanderbeck together, and after a close and well played match, the Merion player won on the home green.

It seemed certain that the semi-final would decide the championship and although Miss Davis played pluckily in the final against her more experienced opponent, she was facing the inevitable, Mrs. Barlow winning by 4 up and 2 to play.

LUMBER TRADE GOLF ASSOCIATION.

President, Eugene Fry, Philadelphia, Pa.; Vice-President, Harry Humphreys, Camden, N. J.; Secretary, Horace A. Reeves, Jr., Philadelphia, Pa.; Treasurer, W. H. Smedley, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Lumber Trade Golf Association holds one meet each year, which last year was held at the Woodland Golf Club of Boston. It consisted of seven eights, and there was a prize for each eight. Morris C. Burton, of Philadelphia, won the championship, and the Philadelphia team won the trophy known as the Sawdust Trophy, and played for annually.

The next tournament will be held the first week in June, 1916, at the Whitemarsh Country Club.

EASTERN INTERCOLLEGIATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

There was a touch of national championship aftermath to the Intercollegiate championship played at the Greenwich Country Club the week after the title tournament at Detroit. It came largely through the presence in the college team and individual competitions of Mr. Dudley H. Mudge, the Minnesota champion, who startled the golfing world by leading the national championship field in the 36-hole qualification; the presence also of Mr. S. D. Herron of Pittsburgh, who tied with Mr. D. E. Sawyer in the preliminary round of the national for the lowest score. Also in the college play were Mr. L. L. Bredin, of Yale, and Mr. W. H. Gardner, 2d, captain of the Yale team, both of whom qualified in the national. Considering that no fewer than three of the six men who played for Yale in the team matches qualified in the national play, it is small wonder that the Eli won the team championship at Greenwich. But that is getting a little ahead of the story.

The intercollegiate last year had additional interest from the fact that it had exceptional representation, for not only were teams entered from Yale, Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania as usual, but there were others from Williams, Cornell and University of Illinois, the university last-named being an entirely new entrant and holder of the Western collegiate championship.

Medalist, F. R. Blossom, Yale, 78, 75—153.

First round—F. R. Blossom, Yale, d. R. de Z. Pierce, Yale, 4 and 3; George Lawyer, Princeton, d. F. W. Dyer, U. of P., 3 and 2; L. L. Bredin, Yale, d. L. H. Canan, Harvard, 5 and 4; Dudley Mudge, Yale, d. D. C. Corkran, Princeton, 19 holes; DeWitt Balch, Yale, d. W. T. Badham, Yale, 23 holes; John Marshall, Jr., Williams, d. John DeWitt, Cornell, 1 up; S. D. Herron, Princeton, d. J. M. Simpson, Illinois, 7 and 6; Grant A. Peacock, Princeton, d. W. A. Lowrie, Princeton, 3 and 1. Second round—Blossom d. Lawyer, 6 and 5; Bredin d. Mudge, 2 up; Marshall d. Balch, 5 and 3; Peacock d. Herron, 4 and 3. Third round—Blossom d. Bredin, 7 and 6, 36 holes; Peacock d. Marshall, 3 and 2, 36 holes. Final round—Blossom d. Peacock, 11 and 9, 36 holes.

CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Held on the course of the Mt. Anthony Country Club at Bennington, Vt.

For the fourteenth time players of the Vermont State met to determine the champion for the year, and a new star appeared in the person of W. A. Barber, Jr., a member of the Princeton Golf team, being eligible for the championship through membership in the Ekwanok Country Club. He tied for the low medal, but lost on the play-off with F. T. Clark, of Ekwanok, and F. B. Jennings, of Mount Anthony, Clark being the winner. In the finals Barber won his match from George Morse of Rutland by 9 and 7, 36 holes.

In the Governor McCullough Cup for club teams a good deal of excitement was engendered owing to a tie between the Mt. Anthony and Ekwanok Clubs at 350 strokes each. On the play-off Ekwanok fell off, requiring 356 to 348 for Mt. Anthony, thereby losing the cup. The best match of the series was between A. L. White, an old Harvard golfer, and Mr. E. M. Pound of Rutland, the latter winning at the second extra hole.

WESTERN AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Mayfield Country Club, Cleveland, Ohio, July 19th to 24th, inclusive.

Probably no better field was ever got together for a Western championship than that which assembled at the picturesque Mayfield club house, to try for the highest honors of the Western Golf Association. The creme de la creme of Western golf talent were all to the front.

The Pacific Coast was well represented, for with "Scottie" Armstrong, Jack Neville, Harry Davis, Robt. Y. Hayne and the pick of the Pacific Coast golfers, the field from that standpoint left nothing to be desired.

The Western Pennsylvania Golf Association was also ably represented by Fownes, Crookston, Preston and Manley looking after the Association's interests, and with Eben Byers running wild, the Pennsylvania State was well looked after.

From the South, from the North and from the West they came, and probably no Association event since the organization of the Association, had such a well selected representation. Of course the "dopster's" slate was broken and many who were counted as winners were found to be losers, and after the first round, blasted hopes could be seen everywhere. Champions from various States were in the discard—Heyburn of Louisville, Byers of Allegheny, Rautenbush of Glen Oak, Edwards of Midlothian, Harry Potter of St. Louis, Geo. S. Lyon, Canada, Hayne of Burlingame and Howland of Chicago, all falling by the way.

1. James D. Standish, Jr., Runner-up Western Amateur Championship; 2. Harry P. Bingham, Cleveland, Semi-Finalist Western Amateur Championship; 3. Warren K. Wood, a former Western Amateur Champion.

Sawyer and Evans of Chicago, at this juncture seemed to be negotiating the course in much better fashion than any of their opponents, for they accounted for their matches in masterly fashion—Sawyer winning from Hunter by 6 and 5, while Evans defeated Edwards by 7 and 6; in the third round Sawyer gave Neville of Claremont, Calif., probably one of the worst trouncings he has yet received. Sawyer going out in 34 and coming home in 38 in the morning round, had a lead of something like ten holes up. Even though Neville played better in the afternoon than in the morning, the pace set for him by Sawyer was entirely too fast, and he had to be content with only being able to win four holes out of the 27 played, while Sawyer took 14.

The lower half of the draw was a surprise. Fownes, of Oakmont, was tipped to be at least a semi-finalist, but a new star named H. B. Bingham, of Mayfield, surprised the talent by accounting for Fownes and also Balch, of Cincinnati.

Further down in the brackets Jimmie Standish, of Detroit, was having rather an easy time of it. His only match that caused him any worry was that with W. H. Gardner, Jr., of Buffalo, in the second round, whom he defeated by 1 up. His match with Bankard he won by 6 and 4, which brought him into the finals with Evans. Strange to say, this was just exactly the position he secured last year at the Kent Country Club, Grand Rapids. The result of the finals was really never in doubt, and while Evans yet the match was finished at the 31st hole, Evans being 7 up and 5 to go.

WESTERN OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held on the course of the Glen Oak Country Club, Lombard, Ill.

When the smoke of battle cleared away at the Western Open it was found that the stocky Bostonian, Tom McNamara, had the lowest score, which entitled him to the blue ribbon of the Western Golf Association. His win was a clean cut one and was exceedingly popular. A large field turned out, among whom were a number of Eastern cracks. Summary :

CRAFTS W. HIGGINS TROPHY

The Los Angeles Country team won the Crafts W. Higgins trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Women's Western Golf Association, for the third time, when it finished 6 up on the women's par of their home course on July 1st, the date of this annual competition. Mrs. A. A. Heaning, Wheaton, had the best individual score, 8 up; Miss Winters Coldham and Mrs. A. B. Newell, of the Inverness Club team, Toledo, came next with 6 up for each, and had they been sustained by the other two players, Inverness would have won the trophy. Mrs. Frank G. Jones and Mrs. C. A. Alexander, of the Exmoor Country Club, were both 5 up, but Mrs. Charles Foster, with 6 down, and Mrs. Charles Buckley, with 4 down, made it possible for the team to finish only even with par, the same result that Inverness had. THIRTEENTH ANNUAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held at the Calumet Country Club, Burnside, Ill., June 29-30, July 1.

Great interest was shown by the older players, as from the ranks of our "prep" golfers of today will come the stars who will be called upon to defend the prestige of the West in the future. Both Warren K. Wood and "Chick" Evans were champions of the Association during their school days, and "Chick" last year was instrumental in getting a course for the boys.

The champion for 1915 is Robert Shealy of the Crane Technical High School and champion of the Garfield Golf Club; he also holds the County junior championship. Shealy defeated Husted Myers, of New Trier High School, a North Shore boy, 3 and 2 in the 36-hole final, after a well played match.

The boys finished the first half of the match all square, each playing fairly well and notching 81's. A stiff breeze from the northwest was somewhat of a handicap on several of the holes. In the afternoon Shealy made a good start, being 3 up at the end of the sixth, but Myers won two of the three holes and was only 1 down at the final turn. Myers lost the tenth by driving into the rough but won the next, Shealy taking three putts. The next two were halved and Shealy stood 2 up when Myers lost the fourteenth by a dubbed approach; the next was halved in 5's, and Shealy became the new champion when Myers took three putts on the sixteenth, losing 4 to 5.

Walter Barnett, of Hyde Park, won the second flight from E. H. Moore, of University High School, by the crushing margin of 12 and 11.

Shealy drives a long ball, but the mashie, which he plays in fine style, is his best club. Myers, the "dark horse" of the tourney, proved he will have to be reckoned with in 1916, by the close run he gave the winner. Several other boys who should be heard from are, Tom Gentles and Al Lowenthal, of Hyde Park, and "Chick" Kinnucan and Gunner Nelsen, of Bowen High School.

Shealy, in addition to capturing the title, also won the medal for low score in the qualifying round with a good 77, two strokes over par. Summary :

CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Held on the Atlanta Athletic Club course at East Lake, Atlanta, Ga.

The largest field which ever faced the starter in any Southern event got away from the first tee on the opening day, and Mr. Nelson Whitney and Mr. C. L. Dexter, Jr., who were destined to afterwards meet in the final, tied for the low medal score with 82. So large was the field that six of the contestants were unable to finish on the first day before darkness overtook them and they had to play the last few holes early Wednesday morning. Those who had scores of as good as 93 got into the first sixty-four and the 94's had to play-off for the last six places.

The play of Robert P. Jones, Jr., the 13-year-old star of Atlanta, was the sensation of the tournament. "Fighting Bob," as the boy is called, was next to the leaders in the qualifying round, with 83, but fell before Commodore Bryan Heard, the Houston veteran, in the first round. Heard needed 80 to beat the boy, who went around in 82. Another feature match was between "Fighting Bob" and the giant Clarence Knowles, the Atlanta golfer to whom a 300-yard drive is a common occurrence. Knowles sank a 25-putt on the 18th green to square the match, after the first eight holes had been halved, but the boy won the extra hole.

1. Al Lesperance, Ottawa (Ill.) Country Club; 2. S. Cowper, Professional, Lawrenceville (Ill.) Country Club; 3. W. Brown, Professional, Wabash (Ind.) Country Club; 4. Harry Collis, Professional, Homewood Country Club, Flossmore, Ill.; 5. Stewart Gardner, Professional, Old Elm, Fort Sheridan, Ill.; 6. E. Garre, Professional.

Perry Adair, the 16-year-old Atlanta boy, who has a more than local reputation, had a nip and tuck battle with Commodore Heard, which young Adair won on the 19th green. Adair met Dexter in the semi-finals, and it was the long and short of it, Dexter being over six feet tall while Adair is just over five feet. Dexter was 1 down at noon, but won the first hole in the afternoon. The match ended 5 and 3 in favor of Dexter.

In the finals between Dexter and Whitney, the latter led until the 33d hole, when the match was squared. Dexter then won the 34th and was for the first time 1 up. The 35th was halved, and, as Dexter won the next one, the hardest fought match in the history of the Association came to a finish. Other matches resulted as follows:

F. T. Clark, Nashville, d. R. T. Jones, Jr., Atlanta, 2 up and 1 to play in the second flight. T. W. Palmer, Atlanta, d. C. H. Munger, Dallas, 5 up and 4 to play in the final of the third flight. Dr. J. C. McAfee, Macon, d. C. T. Dunham, Atlanta, 4 up and 3 to play in the fourth flight. D. E. Root, Atlanta, d. Whitney Bouden, New Orleans, 1 up, 37 holes, in the final of the defeated eighth flight. G. W. Adair, Atlanta, d. Milton Dargan, Jr., Atlanta, 6 up and 4 to play in the final of the defeated eighth second flight. Scott Probasco, Chattanooga, d. W. H. Rowan, Atlanta, by default in the final of the defeated eighth third flight. J. A. Ellen, Atlanta, defeated J. S. Raine, Atlanta, 9 up and 8 to play in the final of the defeated eighth fourth flight.

TEAM MATCH.

The team match was quite a feature and resulted in a win for the Atlanta Athletic Club with a total of 347. The Audubon Club of New Orleans was next with 351, then came the Dallas Country Club, third, with the following clubs in their order: Macon, Georgia, 358; Druid Hills Golf Club, Atlanta, 364; Montgomery Country Club, 366; Birmingham Country Club, 367; Charlotte Country Club, 367; New Orleans Country Club, 372; Chattanooga Country Club, 374; Capitol City Country Club, Atlanta, 378; Memphis Country Club, 379; Nashville Country Club, 380; Little Rock Country Club, 388; Knoxville Country Club, 397.

Miss Stirling won the first eight holes and then lost the ninth. She then won the tenth and eleventh holes and the match. CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Held on the course of the Charleston Country Club, Charleston, S. C.

The course and weather were simply perfect when the first pair drove off for the sixth annual championship of this association. Nearly every club in the association was represented.

The amateur championship was won by Louis Grimbail, of Charleston, who defeated Col. O. J. Bond by the large margin of 8 and 7.

The defeated eight was won by F. M. Laxton, of Charlotte. Mayberry won from Grimbail in the second flight; John M. Scott, of Charlotte, won the third flight, while Ben Cleveland, of Greenville, won the fourth from Dr. Will Moncre, of Raleigh. R. F. Ferguson, of Spartanburg, won the fifth flight from Haskell.

The handicap event was captured by Gilland Stikeleather, of Asheville, with a net 77.

In the open event the popular amateur, Walter M. Paul, who went around with Charley Reynolds, the Asheville professional, at all times was "playing the game," and won with the following score:

Out.....	5	3	5	4	7	5	5	6	4—44
In.....	4	4	5	4	5	3	5	4	4—38—82
Out.....	5	3	6	5	7	6	6	5	4—47

RIDGEWOOD GOLF CLUB, COLUMBIA, S. C.

Columbia attracts a number of tourists each year who break the journey north or south by stopping over and playing golf at Ridgewood, one of the oldest golf clubs in the South. The total distance for the eighteen holes is 6030 yards, the par for which is 40 out and 36 in, a total of 76, a real test of golf over a very sporty course. The greens are sand. The Jefferson Hotel, the golf headquarters of Columbia, is only a short distance from the links by street car and guests are allowed golf privileges upon payment of moderate fee. The club is also a member of the U. S. N. L. T. A. and boasts some first class clay courts.

The fourth individual State championship was held on the course of the Roanoke Country Club, Roanoke, Va., September 4th to 6th, and was won by Matthew W. Paxton, Jr., an 18-year-old lad of Lexington, Va., with a score of 40, 38—78 in the morning, and 42, 40—82 in the afternoon, a total of 160. Nearest competitor, Dr. Rives Fleming, of the Hermitage Golf Club, Richmond, Va., with a score of 40, 43—83 in the morning, and 40, 45—85 in the afternoon, a total of 168. Owing to heavy and continuous rains for a night, day and a night previous, and continuous rain during the entire day of the tournament, poor scores were in the majority. Par of the course for 18-holes, 74, and the score made by Paxton is considered unusually good—in fact, his score would be considered good under the best of conditions, as the par of the course is a hard one.

The team championship was won by the Country Club of Virginia, Richmond, Va.

Holland Hubbard, Toledo, defeated F. B. Medbury, Youngstown's youthful phenomenon, on the 37th green, at the Youngstown Country Club, in the final for the Ohio championship. Medbury got a bad slice from the tee on the extra hole, his ball landing in a practically unplayable lie. After a futile stroke to extricate it he picked up and abandoned the hole. Hubbard's drive was long and straight down the center of the fairway. Medbury was 2 up at noon as the result of wins on the 16th and 17th. Hubbard won the 1st, 4th, 6th, 7th, 9th and 14th, Medbury taking the 3rd, 8th, 10th and 13th, with halves at the other holes.

At no time during the tournament did he falter and when, after two and one-half days of strenuous playing, a rain drenched course and hard matches, serving to add to the strain, he maintained his consistent playing, and won, 5 and 4.

For the eighth time in eleven years the Missouri State championship has been won by a St. Louis player, Mr. Cyrus More of the Normandie Club being the new title holder. In the 36-hole final played at the Glen Echo Club, St. Louis, he defeated Mr. A. W. Warren, of St. Joseph, Mo., the retiring president of the State association, 3 and 1. His victory, which was something of a surprise, gave him possession of the A. B. Lambert trophy for one year, and a silver trophy cup.

While much credit is due the new champion, equal praise belongs to Mr. Warren, who is 55 years of age. It was something of a feat for the veteran to fight his way into the final, as the field was one of the best in the history of the tournament.

The entry list ran close to 225. The length of the course is 6,022—2,957 yards out and 3,065, coming home. Par for each nine is 37.

Mr. Alden Swift, of St. Joseph, Mo., the 1914 champion, had low score of 76 in the opening round on May 31. Mr. Dwight F. Davis, of the St. Louis Country Club had 79; Mr. More, Mr. Edward Limberg of the St. Louis Country Club and Mr. W. A. Stickney, St. Louis, each 81.

The consolation championship was won by Mr. Stuart Stickney, while R. J. Campbell, of Blue Hills, Kansas City, won the finals of Class A.

Golf on the Pacific Coast

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Played over the course of the San Francisco Golf and Country Club.

Quite a number of players from various parts of the country participated, chief of whom were Jack Neville, Chandler Egan, "Chick" Evans, Hoover Bankard, Harry Davis, "Heinie" Schmidt, and Paul Ford, the boy wonder of Seattle. Stiff matches were contested for the most part throughout, and when the smoke of the early rounds had cleared away it was seen that the finalists would have their work cut out to win. H. B. Davis after being down for the first 18 holes to Chandler Egan finally won out by 4 and 2, thus getting his place in the finals with "Heinie" Schmidt. In the morning Schmidt was 5 up, but on resuming in the afternoon, Davis commenced a game that was so spectacular that he just played Schmidt off his feet, finishing with a 71 and winning by a single hole. Davis' score was 79, 71—150; Schmidt, 75, 77—152.

Jim Barnes of Philadelphia, Western Open champion, and Mr. Harry Davis, California champion, carried off all honors in the amateur-professional foursomes at medal play.

Play was over thirty-six holes, and there were prizes for both the best aggregate scores and the best ball score. Barnes and Davis won both events with an aggregate of 299 and 134 best ball, but they were entitled to only one trophy.

As a consequence the prizes for the best aggregate went to Walter Hagen of Rochester, N. Y., the National Open champion, and Mr. H. Chandler Egan. Mr. Charles Evans, Jr., and Bob Johnston had second best score in the best ball event, getting 139.

Jim Barnes, on the last nine holes in the afternoon, came in in the remarkable score of 31. His score for the eighteen-hole round was 69, his total being 142. Summary of play, giving aggregate and best ball, is as follows (first players are amateurs):

The four-man team match was won by Dr. James Eaves, Mr. H. K. B. Davis, Dr. C. H. Walter and Mr. H. E. Sanderson with a total of 660. The team led by H. C. Egan was second with 663. Mr. Evans, who captained the side which finished third, had the best medal card, 150.

Mr. C. T. Crocker of the Exposition golf committee put up two special cups for a match between Messrs. Evans and Egan, representing the East, and Messrs. Schmidt and Davis, representing the West, and the former pair won, 6 and 5, with a card of 35, 33—68. On the same day Jim Barnes won a contest against par, being 2 down. Carl Anderson of Bellaire was second. George Turnbull, the Colorado professional, won the driving contest and Hutton Martin of Los Angeles the approaching and putting event.

Walter Hagen, the ex-National Open champion, proved that his victory in the U. S. G. A. event at Midlothian was no fluke, for he won the open championship of the Panama-Pacific Exposition played on the Ingleside course May 2 and 3. His score of 286 was 8 strokes better than Jack Black who with 294 was second; "Chick" Evans and H. K. Davis tied for third place with totals of 297. Summary:

CALIFORNIA CHAMPIONSHIP.

Held on the course at Del Monte.

The tournament attracted a representative field, Mr. Schmidt being the medalist with a card of 72, 72—144. Mr. Armstrong, with a brace of 73's and Mr. Robin Hayne, the Northern California champion, with similar scores, being tied for third place. Dr. J. Eaves, Mr. E. H. Seaver and Mr. Harry K. B. Davis tied at 154, Mr. A. A. French, Mr. Jack Neville and Mr. George Cline having 155.

The second round resembled that of the second round in the national championship at Detroit in that it was a bad day for the favorites. Mr.

1, Jack Neville, California; 2, H. K. B. Davis; 3, Mr. Robert Y. Hayne, Burlingame, Calif.; 4, W. C. Townes, Jr., Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburgh, Pa.; 5, Perry Adair. Pietzker, Photos.

Jack Neville, former State champion, fell at the twentieth hole to Mr. Schmidt; Mr. Robin Hayne was defeated by Mr. Conde Jones, 3 and 2, and Mr. Harry Davis, the Panama-Pacific champion, was eliminated by Mr. Morris Phillips on the 18th green. These upsets left Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Armstrong as the strong players in their respective divisions and they went through to the final.

Mr. A. H. Braly won the championship consolation from Mr. J. Jevne, 5 and 3.

Mrs. A. R. Pommer, of San Francisco, won the California State title by defeating Mrs. Thomas S. Baker of the Burlingame Country Club, 4 and 3, in the final. In the semi-final Mrs. Baker defeated Mrs. H. S. Van Dyke, the Southern California champion, 5 and 3, setting a record of 83 for the course. Mrs. Pommer won from Miss Edith Cheseborough, the Panama-Pacific title holder, 2 up.

Charles Thom, of Burlingame, won the open with a card of 68, 73, 71—212. Robert Simpson was second with 73, 72, 71—216. Mr. C. E. Maud led the amateurs with 229.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA CHAMPIONSHIP.

Harry K. B. Davis has been dethroned as the champion of Northern California, Robin Y. Hayne doing the act in the semi-finals at the Claremont Country Club. Both played fine golf, Hayne going out in 35 to 38 for Davis and making the turn 2 up. At the 15th Davis was 1 down. Missing a putt on the next green for a 4, Davis lost his chance to square. At the 17th Davis had no chance to win as Hayne made the hole in 3, Davis getting down a sensational putt to halve. It looked as if Davis would win on the 18th, but Hayne came up with a great putt after getting on the green with his third, while Davis had a sure 4. So the hole was halved and the match went to Hayne. The other semi-final match, between H. Warner Sherwood and Arthur H. Vincent, was also decided on the last green, Sherwood holing out a long curving putt to win the match.

Sherwood had an off day in the final and Hayne, after getting 2 up on the 3rd hole, did not have to exert himself to maintain a lead all the way, finishing by 6 and 4. Louis Sloss, Jr., defeated S. O. Johnson by 2 up in the second flight final. It seems almost incredible, but E. A. Rix beat O. W. Lillard by 16 and 14 in the third flight final.

Miss Georgia McCall won the second flight final from Mrs. Gurley by 3 and 2. Mrs. Perkins won her right to play in the final by defeating Miss Mellus, one of the best Southern California golfers, in the semi-final by 1 up.

PORTLAND (ORE.) GOLF CLUB.

The Portland Golf Club is now firmly established. The destruction of its club house by fire last fall brought the question of purchasing the property or continuing the old lease to a head, and, through the generous support of its members, the club was enabled to purchase 113 acres in the Tualatin Valley, four and a half miles from Portland, for $50,000. This property is conveniently located between Firlock station on the Oregon Electric Railway and Raleigh on the Southern Pacific Railway. A new $10,000 club house has been erected and the first nine holes of the permanent course are already in use, with the prospect that the full eighteen holes will be in operation before autumn.

In inter-club matches last season the Portland Golf Club was defeated by the Waverly Country Club in a medal tournament and broke even with the Eugene Country Club in a two-match team event under the Nassau system. In the Oregon State tournament the State championship and also the second and third flights were won by the club.

The officers of the club are: President, Hugh Keats; vice-president, Frank J. Raley; treasurer, Charles B. Lynn; secretary, Harry H. Pearce. Harry L. Pratt, formerly assistant at the Seattle Golf and Country Club, is the club professional and William Dickson the groundskeeper.

The 1915 championship for amateurs was held at the Glen View Club, and resulted in a win for Donald Edwards, whose score was 157, 154—311, six strokes less than his nearest competitor, W. Rautenbush of Glen Oak.

The Open was held at Westmoreland Country Club, and owing to weather conditions the competition was played over only 9 holes, the rest of the course being practically inundated. James Donaldson was the winner with a score of 294, remarkable under the conditions. His nearest rival was Walter Fovargue, who was 9 strokes worse.

The caddy tourney was held on the Windsor Golf Club course, being won by K. Pederson, of Westward Ho, who returned a card of 155. Harold Walker, of La Grange, was second with 158. The team match was won by the Westward Ho team.

CHICAGO WOMEN'S CITY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Miss Laurie Kaiser, who divides her residence between St. Louis and Chicago, won the Chicago woman's title at the Exmoor Country Club by defeating Miss Ruth Layman, Skokie, 5 and 3 in the final. Mrs. A. A. Heaning, Wheaton, won the second flight after a hard battle with Miss Florence Ellis, Calumet, by 2 up. Miss Marjorie Edwards, Midlothian, captured the qualifying score prize with the card of 93, but was put out by a single hole in the semi-finals by Miss Kaiser. Miss Layman had to go an extra hole in the semi-finals to win from Mrs. F. S. Colburn, Glen View, who was runner-up in the 1914 Western championship.

CHICAGO CITY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Annual Contest for Chicago Evening Post Cup.

After postponing partly played matches in the semi-finals on account of a cloudburst, Thomas A. Warren, Jackson Park, won the Chicago city championship over his home course, defeating Walter C. Crowdus, Wheaton, in the final by 2 and 1. Crowdus led most of the way, Warren, however, getting the lead on the 14th in the afternoon and holding the advantage to the finish. The field of 236 was too large to be easily handled on a public links. Warren had two rounds of 75, which gave him the qualifying score prize.

J. K. Lamb, of the Beverly Country Club, won the Jackson Park cup, defeating W. W. Schoff, Wheaton, 5 and 4 in the final.

William Rautenbush, Glen Oak Country Club, who won the championship in 1914, did not defend his title.

For the fourth successive year Hyde Park won the team championship of the Chicago High School Golf League and established a record that will stand for some time. During the four years it has held the championship, Hyde Park has not lost a single league match and has lost only one outside match—against New Trier in 1914.

The 1915 team was composed of Brad Smith, captain; W. Bone, manager; Julian Crowds, Walter Barnett, Tom Gentles and Robert Jacobsen. Hyde Park's closest game was with the Bowen team in the next to last round. Both teams up to that time had clean slates and the Blue and White's victory settled the title as it won easily from Curtis the next Saturday. The score of the Hyde Park-Bowen match was 6 and 4, two of the matches being decided on the 18th green. Bowen finished in second place in the final league standing.

R. J. Farthorn, Galesburg, won the President's Cup, defeating H. H. Taylor, Chicago, by 4 and 3.

THE PRESS GOLF CLUB OF CHICAGO.

The Press Golf Club, of Chicago, composed of editors, reporters and artists regularly employed by Chicago newspapers, finished a successful season with a championship tournament for the Chatfield-Taylor Cup, offered each year by Hobart Chatfield-Taylor, first president of the Western Golf Association and honorary president of the Press Golf Club. The title was won in 1915 by Paul D. Hammett, managing editor of the Daily Provers Journal, who defeated D. J. Lavin of the Tribune in the final round, 1 up in 19 holes, at the Beverly Country Club. The qualifying round of the championship meet was held on the links of the Ravistoe Country Club. Low gross score was made by S. O. Burroughs of the Herald, with an 86. Low net score was returned by J. G. Davis, golf editor of the Tribune, who had 89 strokes.

While Chicago newspaper golfers have contended each fall for the Chatfield-Taylor Cup during the last twelve years, the Press Golf Club was formally organized only last spring. Basil G. Wyrick, night news editor of The Associated Press, who planned the organization, was elected president; J. G. Davis of the Tribune, vice-president; Paul R. Leach, of the Daily News, secretary, and Richard Lee of the Herald, treasurer. Tournaments were held each month from April to November, inclusive, at various clubs by invitation. The club made efforts to promote publication of golf news and gossip in proportion to other sporting news, to circulate and make more effective the rules of golf and to increase general interest in the game which has grown so rapidly during the last few years. These objects will be pursued during the present season and thereafter.

The April meet of the club was held on the public links in Jackson Park. D. J. Lavin returned best gross score, 86, with Howard M. Briceland, of the Tribune, second, and Paul D. Hammett third.

In the May tournament, held at the Park Ridge Country Club, T. A. Ballantyne, of the Daily News, thrice newspaper champion of Chicago, led the field with 84 strokes gross, winning the Indestructo Cup. H. M. Briceland was second, and Richard Lee, third.

The June contest was held at the Glen Oak Country Club, whose president, Sherman T. Edwards, offered a cup to the winner. Paul D. Hammett captured the cup with a net score of 93, the links being slow because of rain. C. B. Rourke, of the News, won second prize and T. A. Ballantyne third with a gross score of 81.

The Ballantyne Cup was contested for in the July meet at the Beverly Club, H. M. Briceland winning with low net from scratch, taking 90 strokes. C. B. Rourke was second and T. A. Ballantyne, donor of the cup, was third net with 79 gross.

The August meet was held at the Calumet Country Club, P. D. Hammett returning low net score of 88. E. S. Sheridan, of the Tribune, was second and J. G. Davis, third.

Charles Evans, Jr., thrice Western amateur champion, was guest of honor at the September tournament, which was held at Edgewater Golf Club, Evans' home course. The champion, playing with President B. G. Wyrick, displayed some under par golf for the edification of the scribes. The "Chick" Evans trophy went to Col. Perley H. Boone, of the Tribune. C. B. Rourke made low net score and T. A. Ballantyne best gross, 80.

The October contest included the qualifying round for the championship and the play-off for numerous trophies. The winners of the various awards were:

MacGregor Cup: H. M. Briceland, Tribune; H. I. Jones Cup: S. O. Burroughs, Herald; A. G. Spalding trophy: B. G. Wyrick, Associated Press; Golf Shop Cup: J. G. Davis, Tribune; Bradley Golfer trophy: P. R. Leach, News; Gil Nicholls trophy: F. W. Carson, Tribune; Herd & Yeoman Cup: P. H. Boone, Tribune; Golfers Magazine Cup: J. H. Forest, American; Worthington Diamond Badge: P. P. Pomeroy, Associated Press; Burke Cup: W. H. Mather, Tribune; B. E. Snyder trophy: P. D. Hammett, Drovers Journal; The Fair Cup: O. G. Lundberg, Tribune; Foulis Cup: Richard Lee, Herald; Klees Cup: J. A. Durkin, Tribune; Crafts Higgins Cup: T. A. Ballantyne.

A post-season sweepstakes was held at the Windsor Golf Club, J. G. Davis winning with a net score of 81.

Golf in Kansas City

By LANDON LAIRD.

The 1915 golf season in Kansas City was an unqualified success. A year in which practically every sport found ardent support at the hands of its enthusiasts, nevertheless 1915 increased the number of golf players in Kansas City almost threefold, and from morning until night, April to January, the public links and the private courses were crowded with pairs and foursomes, the cracks and the duffers, all anxious to develop their games to top form.

The seven golf clubs in Kansas City—Evanston, Blue Hills, the Country Club, Mission Hills, Oakwood, Shawnee Heights, and Swope Park—shared equally in providing entertainment for the local golfers. The two big tournaments of the season, the men's city championship and the women's city championship, both fell to the lot of the Blue Hills Club, as did two sets of exhibition matches, when "Chick" Evans, Ned Sawyer, and a party of visiting players from the Rock Island Arsenal Club played here. But the rest of the clubs held their own tournaments, and rivalry was keenly established between representatives of the different courses.

The city tournament was the first big classic of the year, although it was not staged until the week of September 11-18. Never was a local tournament so enthusiastically supported by everyone in Kansas City. One hundred and thirty-six men played the Blue Hills "eighteen" qualifying day, turning in scores which varied from "Eddie" Morrison's low 80 to the big 123 turned in by the most unfortunate contestant. The papers used columns on the tournament, accompanying them by many illustrations and diagrams, where shorter stories had been used before. Galleries appeared on the course to follow the second and third rounds of play, where they had never appeared until the semi-final flights in times past. The gallery which followed the final match was almost twice the size of any audience known to Kansas City golf before. Blue Hills groundkeepers had to walk in front of the crowds with ropes, to keep the spectators a sufficient distance behind the players.

C. R. Jones, 1914 title holder, renewed his claim to the city championship by winning last year's tournament. A golfer of merit, who never shows his best stuff until the crucial point, "Rand" Jones, came through the championship field of thirty-two in the manner in which his most interested rooters said he would. Jones' matches were not the ones followed by the crowds in the earlier days of play. A rumor had spread that "Rand" was off form, that he might not get to the championship round. But "Rand" got there with a vigor. And he was still there when every other contestant had been swept off the mat.

A big victory for golf as a popular sport, and also a win for the many Kansas Citizens who use the public links at Swope Park, came in the person who played Jones that thirty-six hole match for the final honors. This was Arthur Eckland, a 19-year-old boy, who barely got into the qualifying round, but whose golf improved day by day until it appeared for a time that he was destined to go through the whole tournament undefeated.

Eckland was a caddy on the Evanston links three years ago. He served his apprenticeship there, and studied and practiced his game under men whom he downed in this tournament. Then he moved over to Swope Park, where he worked out on the public links constantly. He played his first tournament in 1915, and went to the final round. Jones defeated him there, 5 up and 4 to play, but not before Eckland had made him work every step of the way.

The other contestants who made splendid records for themselves in the city classic were M. B. Nelson, who was defeated by Eckland in the semi-final round; L. V. Graham, a "dark horse," whom Jones downed in the same flight; W. A. R. "Wash," Summers, who dropped a hard luck match to Nelson, 1 down on the eighteen holes; Dr. G. L. Miller, and G. L. Conley.

The women's city tournament came almost a month later, October 7 to October 15. Fifty-four women, young girls and matrons, contested on qualifying day. This was the largest number of women who have ever contested in a city tournament. Once again occurred the unexpected enthusiasm. The papers gave the tournament splendid space, galleries of women followed the matches even on qualifying day, the contest was "the thing" for Kansas City's women's "400."

Miss Carolyn Lee, a young Evanston player, won the women's championship. She took the final honors by defeating Mrs. Edward R. Morrison, 5 up and 4 to play, in the last tournament match. Miss Lee's victory was a popular one to the spectators. She had been touted as one of the most dangerous contenders from the start, and hers was a case where "dope" came through true to form.

The women installed rather an innovation in their play by having the matches up to the final round only go twelve holes. The players contested the first eleven cups in rotation, then walked over to the ninth tee and played the ninth hole over as the twelfth one. The final match between Miss Lee and Mrs. Morrison went all eighteen holes, however.

The tournament brought out many clever players among the women. Miss Gladys Cranston, noted for her work in grand opera here, one of the most popular players in the contest, took the medalist honors qualifying day with a count of 66 for the twelve holes. Mrs. Paul Barbee, of Evanston, played to the semi-finals flight, when Mrs. Morrison put her out. Miss Florence Reid, another Evanston player, was Miss Lee's opponent in the next-to-last round.

The opening of the splendid new Excelsior Springs course, which occurred one Saturday and Sunday late in the fall, drew a large crowd of Kansas City golfers and enthusiasts down to the Springs to help dedicate the new links. "Chick" Evans and Warren Wood, together with Alden Swift, Trans-Mississippi champion, were the guests of honor during the two days of dedication play.

Two weeks later Evans, paired with Ned Sawyer, of Wheaton, Ill., and Alden Swift again, played two eighteen-hole rounds over the Blue Hills course in an effort to beat the low 75 mark which Dr. G. L. Miller and "Rand" Jones held up to that time. The best Evans and Sawyer did was to tie the mark, each turning in a 75 count for that Sunday morning's play, and failing to equal their morning marks in the afternoon.

Evans and Sawyer drew an immense crowd out to Blue Hills to watch them. Going out in the morning Evans hit a wonderful clip, which seemed sure to bring him home the new record-holder. But his game slipped about midway during the match, while Ned Sawyer, after running a marvelous putt on the fifteenth green, came the rest of the way in like a shot of lightning, the two holing out on the eighteenth green with a tied count of 75. Dr. G. L. Miller, playing later in the season, broke the long-standing Blue Hills record with a 74 of his own.

The last exhibition match of the season came October 30 and 31. Ardo Mitchell and Leon Mitchell, of Moline, Ill., Decker French, of Davenport, Ia., and Frank Gates Allen, of Moline, were the guests of a quartette of Kansas City golfers, and for two days tried to break that Blue Hills record. But the Illinois group were handicapped by a heady wind the first day, and fatigue, mixed with the same factor, the next. And their attempts to crack the record failed.

New Year, 1916, saw the passing of the old Evanston links, which have seen the battles of so many contestants in different tournaments. The Evanston club members moved practically intact out to Hillcrest, a splendid new course, located two and one-half miles south of the old links. A new eighteen-hole course, of fair quality, has been laid out by the city in Swope Park, responsive to the constant requests for better public golf accommodations. A new course is being built by a group of Kansas City golfers at the Clacomo station, on the Excelsior Springs line, and Shawnee Heights and Oakwood are going through a systematic system of work and improvement.

The 1916 golf season should be the biggest ever staged in Kansas City. The Missouri State tournament is to be held on the Blue Hills links in May, and the club and city tournaments will follow in their order. And in the meantime, Kansas City is going golf mad. Everyone is taking up the game. The sport seems to be on its highest wave, and still going upward!

Root System of Rational Handicapping

A rather ingenious system of handicapping has been gotten up by J. Sherman Root of Chicago, which, after having been fully tried out at various clubs, has proven to be the best, in the opinion of many, yet put forward. We herewith, for the benefit of our readers, give it at full length. To be eligible for handicap under this system each member must hand in five full eighteen-hole scores to obtain a handicap at the beginning of a season. After the first handicap is posted it should be changed on the first of each month as better scores are turned in. All full eighteen-hole scores, whether made in friendly matches, medal or match events, or whether they be good, bad or indifferent, should be turned in. All putts should be holed out. All averages of 135 or over will be handicapped at 36 (this does not apply to ladies).

When a player turns in no scores, he should play from scratch until such time as he complies with this rule. A player who turns in one score will be penalized eight strokes; two scores, seven strokes; three scores, six strokes, and four scores, five strokes; but shall not be lower than scratch.

Medal handicaps are determined by taking three-fifths of the actual difference between the average of five best scores and par, and other information. Fractions of a half or over count as a whole.

The handicap officer, by knowledge or information, has the power to reduce the handicap of any player failing to turn in his lowest scores, and such suppression of lowest scores is declared unfair play.

Handicaps are to be obtained in no other way.

The handicap at one par will be the same at any other club. The only change will be in the play. It will be greater or less in proportion as the par is greater or less than the one on which the handicap is based.

This system of ratings may be used in any manner desired. The rating may be changed immediately a better score is made, or it may be changed once in two weeks, or once a month. The main object is to get in the cards and it can best be done by making the handicap changes on the first of each month during the season. A player is entitled to play throughout an event with the same rating. Events usually run for a month. Every card must be turned in so that the handicapper can tell what each man is doing. If he finds one going stale (cards will show it), he will treat him accordingly; giving him an increase in handicap such as his play warrants.

A player who has turned in no scores, after having had sufficient time to do so, should play from par, or as it is termed, "scratch." If he has turned in only one card, it should be applied to the table of ratings and eight strokes deducted from the handicap shown in the table; if only two cards, average them and apply to the table, then deduct seven strokes; if three cards, treat in the same manner with a six strokes deduction; and for four cards deduct five strokes. No rating obtained in this manner should be lower than par.

It is up to the honor of every member of a club to turn in his scores, and any suppression of scores, be they good or bad, should be deemed unfair play. No handicap should be changed during the progress of an event. All putts must be holed out.

Exceptionally low or "freak" scores should be turned in, and, when not duplicated, treated as only one stroke less than the lowest score previously reported. Freak scores may be construed as follows: Players at 0 to 8 making a score three strokes or more less than the lowest turned in; those from 9 to 18 four or more less, and players at 19 and over, five strokes or more less. The table of handicaps can be used with the "Automatic" system or otherwise. The second table of fractional figures is particularly adapted to the "Automatic" system. The idea of the table is to provide handicap figures that apply to all courses having par of from 69 to 77 inclusive. A man having an average score of 69 on a par 69 course plays at scratch on any course, because a 69 on a 69 course is no better than a 77 on a 77 course. Par is par, and the home club handicap, if from par on the average of the five best scores, should apply on any other course, no matter what the par of the visited club may be. With this system in general use, the club handicap applies everywhere and no National or Western handicap lists are needed. In the event a player has an average of five best scores that fall under par, the same rule applies. The table reverses itself and becomes plus. Thus it will be + 2, + 2, + 1, 0, 1, 2, 2, etc.

Short Hole and Long Hole Handicapping

HOLES OF START.

By B. R. ABBOTT.

Reprinted from Golf, April 1914.

As is well known, no common method is followed by golf clubs in selecting the holes at which strokes are granted in Handicap Match Play.

In forming their stroke-tables, some clubs—for example, a well-known Metropolitan club—assign the strokes to the long holes first, proceeding through the holes of medium length to the short holes and allotting the strokes to the first and second halves of the course alternately.

Other clubs select the holes in the same manner, but pay little heed to the equal division of the strokes between the two halves of the course. Another club will give the first stroke on the longest hole, the second stroke on the shortest hole, the third stroke on the second longest hole, the fourth stroke on the second shortest hole, and so on for a few more strokes, finally choosing the holes apparently at random.

Still other clubs consider primarily, not the length or difficulty of the holes, but the equal division of the strokes between the two halves of the course. In short, every club adopts its own theory in forming its stroke-table.

What does such diversity of method indicate? How far do the statistics of all the handicap matches played by a club in its tournaments during an entire season, or, better, for many seasons, bear out the truth of the theory adopted by the club in the formation of its stroke-table?

The purpose of handicapping is to put on an equal footing all the players in a club who have any title whatever to win matches. With perfect handicapping of individual players, that theory of selecting the holes in the formation of a stroke-table would seem best according to which the matches won during a season or during many seasons are divided most evenly between the inferior players (all receiving strokes) and the superior players (all granting strokes), due regard being paid to the results at different allowances. The excellence of the theory can be determined in the long run only by actual statistics. Here is no room for nineteenth hole vagaries.

So far as I have been able to ascertain, such a prolonged test of a stroke-table by the use of actual statistics has never been made; but, of course, in this matter I may be mistaken.

However, such a test for three years, 1911, 1912 and 1913, has been carried on in the New York Golf Club of Van Cortlandt Park. In the year 1911 a new stroke-table was adopted, in which the strokes were assigned first to the shortest holes and then to the medium and the longer holes, due regard being paid both to the position of the holes in the first and the second halves of the course and to their relative difficulty. The theory upon which the table was based is that, since in the system of equalizing the playing of two men by means of strokes granted at certain holes to the inferior player, the inferior is given not a positive advantage such as he is given in the holes of start system, but merely an additional chance, that is, as he must either win or halve the hole by means of the stroke granted in order that the stroke may be of advantage to him, the strokes should be granted first on the easiest, that is, in general, on the shortest holes, then on the medium, and finally on the long.

Thus the short hole system resembles slightly the holes of start system. By the latter system the inferior player is given a positive handicap by being granted one, two, three, etc., holes up at the beginning of the match. Consequently, in the short hole system, even if the inferior player were conceded the one or two shortest holes outright, he would be only slightly better off than in the holes of start system. In the latter system the superior player has the full eighteen holes in which to win back the holes granted to the inferior, while in the short hole system he would have only one or two holes fewer than eighteen to win back the holes conceded to the inferior player. However, according to the statistics, the inferior player by no means wins all of the shortest holes to say nothing of the rather short holes.

If it would seem illogical in the case of a large number of strokes granted to the inferior player to defer the strokes on the longest holes to the last, the fallacy is only apparent, not real, inasmuch as a single stroke granted on a hole of five hundred yards or more would not be of the least advantage to a poor player. He probably could not win such a hole with even two strokes. Also, the number of matches played with large allowances of strokes is probably very small, since, in most clubs, the players are divided into classes A, B and C, or into first, second and third sixteens.

On the other hand, in the long hole system, in the case of a player receiving say fifteen or sixteen strokes, not to grant him strokes on the two very short holes found on the majority of courses is to take away from him, or, at least to decrease, his chances of winning what may be for him the easiest holes on the course.

A record was carefully kept during 1911, 1912, and 1913 of all the matches played with handicaps in which the bye holes were played out, a total of 883. The matches were played by the short hole system, but the results were tabulated also according to the long hole and the holes of start systems. In the case of the latter system the table used by a well-known Metropolitan club was followed. According to this, in the case of a difference between the handicaps of the two players of 1 or 2, the inferior player starts 1 hole up; with a difference of 3 or 4, 2 holes up; 5 or 6, 3 holes; 7 or 8, 4 holes; 9 or 10, 5 holes; 11 to 14, 6 holes; 15 to 18, 7 holes; 19 to 25, 8 holes; 26 to 36, 9 holes.

The handicaps of the individual players were fixed in accordance with the Calkins system and were carefully revised each month. The allowance of strokes granted the inferior player was equal to three-fourths of the difference between the handicaps of the two players.

The results of the 883 matches are as follows:

By the short hole system, the inferior won 395 matches, the superior 398 matches, and 90 matches were tied, a balance of 3 matches in favor of the superior.

By the long hole system, the inferior won 384 matches, the superior 420 matches, and 79 matches were halved, a balance of 36 matches in favor of the superior.

By the holes of start system, the inferior won 414 matches, the superior 382 matches, and 87 matches were tied, a balance of 32 matches in favor of the inferior.

The differences between handicaps ranged from 1 to 19; the allowance of strokes in the short and the long hole systems from 1 to 14; the allowances of holes in the holes of start system from 1 to 8.

Although the results for the period of three years in the case of the short hole system are remarkable, the superior winning only three more matches than the inferior and 90 matches being halved, the results for each year being fairly uniform, no claim is made for the general excellence of the short hole system. In fact, all of the systems are faulty when the various differences are taken by themselves. To some extent, this faultiness is due to the fact that fractions of $\frac{1}{2}$ or more count as 1, and fractions of less than $\frac{1}{2}$ are rejected.

Thus, with a difference of 1 between handicaps, the inferior receives $\frac{1}{4}$ of a stroke more than the $\frac{3}{4}$ of a stroke to which, strictly speaking, he is entitled. With a difference of 2, he receives 2 strokes, or 2-4 of a stroke in excess. With a difference of 3, he receives 2 strokes, or $\frac{1}{4}$ of a stroke less than what he is entitled to. With a difference of 4, he receives exactly three strokes. This series is repeated with the following four differences of 5, 6, 7 and 8, and so on.

There is a remarkable gain for the inferior noticeable in both the short hole and long hole systems, up to a difference of ten, when he receives more than his exact fractional allowance and a corresponding loss when he loses the 14 stroke to which he is entitled. This same varying loss and gain is noticeable in the holes of start system. In all three systems it would probably be more just not to grant the one stroke in the case of a difference between handicaps of one. Nearly always the inferior wins more than his fair share of the matches, and by a comfortable margin. The statistics, not here printed, show that it would be more just not to grant the single stroke, or at least a full stroke.

The majority of the holes on the Van Cortlandt course are of medium length; very few are what may be termed long holes. In view of the fact that the superior won by the long hole system 36 matches more than the inferior and by the short hole system only 3 matches more, it seems likely that on courses containing several very long holes, a considerable number of long holes and few medium holes, such as is the case generally on courses of 6,000 yards, the inferior player would have by the long hole system still less chance against the superior than on the course of 5,340 yards on which the matches here recorded were played.

Golf Course Architect.

Mr. Bendelow is known in the golf world from coast to coast. He has laid out over 600 golf courses throughout the United States and Canada.

Hints to the Green Committee

Wishing to be of some assistance to you, as many times Green Committees are at a loss to find out where they may be able to find someone who will give them information relative to the care and maintenance of their golf course in general, we wish to say that we shall be only too pleased, upon application, to answer questions that may arise with you from time to time in connection with the care of putting greens or fair greens.

Our experience in this department is certainly very extensive, and as a result of long, practical experience, we are in a position to give the very best advice possible.

We are probably responsible for 50 per cent of the golf courses in the United States of America, if not a greater number than that, and we can save you money by assuring you that when work is done by us it is the result of years of attention given to this particular department of the game.

There are many who essay this task, who have no earthly idea of economy, and who are entirely regardless of the exorbitant charges they saddle on clubs who have sought their services, yet are loud in their attestations of their ability to do better than anyone else. A good golf course is largely a matter of evolution, and it is foolish to go to work and spend tens of thousands of dollars upon a golf course in its inception in this part of the world, when the resultant conditions make a good deal of the work done of no value later. Many do this, with other people's money, who are placed on Green Committees for a short term, for they know their responsibility ends with their term in office. Remember climatic conditions are vastly different on this broad continent. What does for one part of the country will certainly not do for another. Soils vary also, and adaptation must ever be taken into account. Remember you have as fine grasses in your own country as can be found anywhere. Don't imagine you require to go abroad to get grass that will give you perfect greens, and for that reason pay exorbitant prices for the same. Exercise a little common sense in this matter the same as you do in the running of your business, for you know that when your books are wrong in your accounting department you naturally look for the services of not an ordinary bookkeeper, but an expert. It will save you money in the long run by getting the very best and we can assure you we can provide it. Never mind the many reasons that advertisers of grass seed are using for their unprecedented prices of grass seed, owing, some claim, to drought in Europe, and thereby charge twice as much as the seed is worth. You have all the grass seed at your own door for this purpose without paying such fancy prices. Never mind the seed doctor stunt, which is an "ad" gotten up to pull wool over your eyes. No grass seed is passed on a perpetually moving belt before the sharp eyes of girls trained to the work, who have the ability to fasten on intruding weeds. This may be all right for beans and peas, etc., but not for grass seed. Yet this sort of literature is gotten up to create the impression among those who do not know that this is the modus operandi pursued by some as a pretext for charging such exorbitant prices for grass seed. Such a course is never pursued. It's impossible commercially.

We can demonstrate to you, if you are interested, quicker results derived from grass seed, stripped from grasses grown in the country, in various parts, than has ever been gotten from imported seed yet. Write to us for prices. You will find them right.

If you have any wish to remodel your course, or are thinking of seeking new grounds and would need the services of an expert to lay out your new grounds for you, or remodel the old one, we wish to state that we are in a position, second to none in the country, to give you the best service in this particular line.

Our experience embraces a period in this country of over twenty years, doing work in practically every State of the Union. Our charges are moderate indeed, and if we can serve you in any shape or way either in laying out new golf courses, remodeling old ones, looking over land with a view to proving its adaptability for this purpose, telling you what seed to sow, how to sow it, and supplying you with it at a reasonable cost, or, as to the maintenance of your course, bunkering the same, etc., etc., we shall be well satisfied.

HINTS ON LAYING OUT A GOLF COURSE.

Very little has been written on the subject of laying out golf courses, and rightly so, by the numerous scribes who have added to the large and ever increasing number of books on the subject of golf. No doubt, they all realized that it was a subject upon which more mistakes could be made in a minute than could be remedied in years, and very wisely refrained. Were conditions the same everywhere the task would be a comparatively easy one, but as they are not this is what makes it almost impossible. We have no intention, therefore, of laying down any hard and fast lines to go upon, but merely give some general ideas of what is requisite.

The acreage necessary for a nine-hole course of an average length of about 3,000 yards is about 45 acres. This will give about two or three acres space for club house and the amenities thereof. Of course, for an 18-hole course, with the added attractions usually to be taken care of in a proposition of such magnitude, 100 acres is none too much. Understand, however, this is on land that is practically free from any large quantity of trees. Of course, if a park effect is wanted in connection therewith the acreage will have to be largely increased.

The ideal land for a golf course, be it a 9- or 18-hole one, is land of an undulating nature, having some natural attractions in the nature of a stream meandering through it, or some good elevations, which can be all used to splendid advantage. The ideal soil is of sandy loam with a gravelly subsoil, but as this cannot always be had, a good golf course may be laid out on nearly any kind of farm land. Of course, the exercise of a little judgment is absolutely necessary as to the placing of the greens to the best possible advantage.

If the ground has been under cultivation there is no other course open but that the whole should be plowed up. Previous to the plowing, ail fences and other lines of demarcation between fields should be thoroughly removed, as well as all stones and other debris, when the whole then can be thoroughly harrowed preparatory to seeding.

If fertilizing of the soil is necessary the best thing that can be done is to spread some rotted stable manure on the ground before the plowing has been resorted to and seeing to it that the whole is well turned in.

When the harrowing has been done satisfactorily, the ground should then be seeded. As the seeding is a matter of the very greatest importance no chances should be taken, but the best advice obtainable on this subject should be had. False economy practiced at a time like this in the sparing of the quantity of seed sown will be a disappointment.

This does not mean necessarily that you are to go and pay all kinds of fancy prices for so-called imported mixtures that are being advertised from time to time, and which, by the way, are not nearly as good as the native grasses produced in our own country. Why should they be, when climatic conditions and adaptability—the two chief factors with regard to satisfactory growth—are so vastly different. No; but there is an old axiom common to agriculturists which is to the effect that if you do not put it on the ground you may never expect to take it off, and when the right kind of seed has been procured suitable to the soil it should be sown at the rate of at least from 100 to 125 pounds per acre.

soil, as it is infinitely better to keep what you have got in the way of turf, however poor it may be, than go to the unnecessary expense of undoing what Nature has taken probably years to do and which can, by little attention, be improved 100 per cent. A disc harrow at a time like this will do wonders and the best thing to do is to see to it that the ground is thoroughly disced, care being taken that the discs are not set at such an angle that the turf is displaced, the object being merely to cut it. This will have the effect of breaking up the soil and stimulating in it chemical action, thereby making available a great many properties which are natural to the soil itself. When this has been done, then some good commercial fertilizer can be used, after which seeding and rolling may be indulged in. Seeding on ground so treated should be at the rate of 50 pounds to the acre.

The staking out of the course should be the next thing that should occupy the attention of the committee in charge of this work, and we would strongly advise here again that the best advice possible should be got on this subject—having an expert who has been accustomed to do this kind of work for years, and not any Tom, Dick or Harry who perhaps has not laid out a golf course in his life but who may have pretensions to be able to play the game in a capable manner; yet, when it comes to utilizing ground to the best possible advantage he is fairly at sea. See to it that the length of the holes should be such as will call for the best efforts of the golfer and that the holes are of such playing length that credit is given to good playing and that the mediocre player will find himself exactly in the class to which he belongs; in other words, that the holes will be of such a length that there will be no possibility whatever of a man making a mistake and being able to catch up to his opponent without being penalized for his misplay. The object of the expert who is laying out your grounds should be to start in with a hole of considerable length and continue with the same idea in mind so as to avoid congestion and to allow the players to get very well spread out before he comes to shorter holes. A good hole to start in with is probably one about 460 yards, not bringing in any short holes until probably about the sixth or seventh. This will give a field a chance to be thoroughly well spread out and preclude in a very great measure the possibility of congestion occurring at the first tee. If it is an 18-hole course that is needed it is a good idea always to bring back the ninth hole to the club house, starting out again at the tenth tee and bringing back the eighteenth to the club house again.

We would strongly advise, however, for those who intend to have a golf course laid out in connection with any club, that the services of an expert be got and that the matter be placed unreservedly in his hands, as it will certainly save a great deal of money to the club contemplating such action. It is false economy to suppose that any man can do this kind of work simply because he happens to play golf, and clubs have proven this to their discomfiture many a time.

Rolling of Greens

Devereux Emmet of Garden City some time ago had an article in "Golf," which many of our green committee men would do well to heed. There is more concentrated common sense in it than it has been my good fortune to have read in golfing magazines for many a day. I believe one feels a little diffident to rush into print, as advice along this line can rarely ever be general in this country owing to its vast size and the variety of adaptation and climatic condition that prevails, yet the condition that many of our golf courses are found in from time to time after a torrid spell, or after a severe winter, impels one to ask the question—is there not a cause? I believe there is, and from my own observation, Mr. Emmet strikes the keynote of the whole matter when he says that our fair greens are becoming root bound, hermetically sealed, and waterproof, thereby making it almost impossible for nature to be at all favorably disposed toward us. In short, they are rolled altogether too much. At one of the Chicago courses, where a heavy cutter is constantly employed on one part of the golf course and the ordinary horse mowers on the other, that end of the golf course where the heavy mower is not used shows conclusively its superiority in the nature and texture of the turf, and is certainly more free from weeds, and the soil is certainly in much better shape. This result can be seen any day on any of the courses round the city of Chicago, although sometimes the comparison is not quite so apparent.

As Mr. Emmet points out, for a new course the use of a heavy roller or auto-mower is a perfect Godsend up to a certain point, yet I wish to say right here it has been my experience that if the ground of a new golf course has been properly prepared the use of an auto-mower or a roller should be limited to a matter of a week or ten days. A sure way to injure the soil is by packing to exclude the air, for the reason that the activities of the chemical agents in the soil is thereby lessened, and thus the making of plant food available is in great measure retarded. On the other hand, when the soil is maintained in a more friable state, and the air is allowed entrance, oxygen being such an active element and combining freely with elements in all sorts of substances, it naturally follows that chemical action and change more actively take place. Hence reasons for good and bad fair greens in very many instances. Withal, nature is more kind to us than we are to it, and many times we see conditions exist of a splendid nature on a fair green, not because of what is being done, but in spite of it.

The nature of the soil on fully 90 per cent of the golf courses in the western country will not permit of this packing, and if one keeps his eyes open evidences of this can be seen any day almost on any course that is visited. On courses where grass grew a few years ago in luxuriance, and free from weeds, one is shocked to see that more weeds exist in many instances than grass and infinitely more than in the rough and upon which no work of this kind has been done. The reason is not far to seek. In the rough, the water fall is conserved, not only because of the ranker growth, but because the soil was in a better state of receptivity to take it in, the rain fall being better absorbed and thus augmenting the water reserves, and providing the moisture necessary to give vigor to the grass growth and eliminating in great measure the propagating of weed life. On the other hand, the method pursued of constantly rolling and cutting the fair green has practically raised a surface almost as hard as asphalt through which only a small percentage of the rainfall ever percolates, but running off into low places sours the ground, kills the grass and makes a splendid place for the germination of every weed that is blown on to

it. Weeds with large tap roots, unlike the rhizomes of grass, bore down and thrive where it is impossible for grass to do so. Who has not seen evidences of this kind on almost every course he has played upon, yet how slow are those in charge of affairs willing to use common sense methods in the pursuit of the end they have in view.

Water is of so much importance to the life of the grass that we see thousands of dollars spent annually in the piping of putting and fair greens all over the country and yet by the methods pursued of packing and caking the soil the object sought to be gained is in great measure nullified. When it is considered that water is the most essential food of plant life it is easily seen why all this expenditure. The water acts upon the plant food in the ground by turning all food materials into solution thus making them available for absorption. Hence it should be the aim of those looking after the golf course to see that the ground is kept in as friable a shape as is possible—that the porosity of both fair and putting greens is always maintained, when I am sure that the amount of water necessary for their maintenance will never be so great as under the present method so prevalent of continually rolling; and the textures of the grass will be better.

Putting Greens

As often happens, owing to the vagaries of the winter in the western hemisphere, putting greens suffer extensively from winter-kill. There are many reasons that can be brought forward to account for this, one of the most apparent being lack of a snow covering—the snowfall not being sufficient to allow the protection necessary to preserve the turf against repeated thaws and frosts.

One thing that should make itself apparent to the average Green Committee man or greenkeeper is that the only way to overcome this occurring winter by winter in this western country, where such extremes in temperature usually prevail, is to see to it that, in the building of new putting greens or in remodeling old ones, a perfect system of drainage is installed. Rarely, if ever, do you find greens suffering from winter-kill where the subsoil is sand or gravel, the reason being no doubt that the porosity of the soil is sufficient in itself to carry off all the moisture, thereby lessening the effects of Jack Frost's work upon the roots and making it possible for his opponent, King Sol, to find it quite an easy task, through his beneficent rays, to offset; but in all heavy soils where the subsoil is clay and where such porosity is limited, means will have to be adopted to preclude the possibility of gravitational water standing, else a repetition of what has occurred in the last two or three years in the western country will be a sure result, namely: winter-killed putting greens.

Of course to accomplish the making of greens similar to those which obtain on the links in Scotland or on the sandy soils of the Atlantic seaboard, a good deal of expense is entailed which would probably be more than the average club would be willing to expend. It certainly would be quite an item, but when one considers that the creative power of country club life is practically the game of golf, and looks at the elaborate club houses that are being built, there is no reason why the game which creates the whole thing should be relegated into such a small corner and only a small percentage of the income devoted to the building up and maintenance of the same. It can readily be argued that because of the greater distances to travel to the club in this country it is necessary that more elaborate club houses be built and maintained than on the other side, which no doubt in measure is quite true, but, as a golfer, I must say, not at the expense of the golf course.

With twenty years' experience in the game of golf and its requirements, one would think much would have been learned in that time, but it seems after all that there is a sad lack of knowledge in many of the rudimentary principles. In the economy of the management of clubs we usually find a new Green Committee coming in with each succeeding year and no wonder the greens, as a rule, suffer. The men who are usually appointed to these duties are perfectly willing to admit that their knowledge of agronomy and agrostology is, at the most, academic, but that they are willing to learn and if, perchance, through interchange of thought and observation, they have learned anything in the course of the year, another year sees a new committee in place of the old one, and once again there is a new beginning. When we look at some of the clubs, however, that have pursued a more sane policy and have had Green Committees serve for a term of from five to ten years, we find a different state of things prevalent. We find intelligent management, greens in better shape than anywhere else, and it is only rightly so that this should be, as they have a chance to commence each succeeding year where they left off in the previous one, and the knowledge so acquired is invaluable to them and to others if they will only see it. A good golf course is a matter of evolution, and unless one can profit by past experience there can be no benefit.

In the building of a putting green on an inland course, one should seek to imitate nature as nearly as possible. By this is meant the soil condition that obtains where we consider the best greens are to be found.

On the links in Scotland, where the best golf courses are said to be, there is just enough loam on the top of pure sand to give nourishment to a short, crisp and curly grass, which makes the best kind of a putting green that can be found anywhere. Of course such a grass cannot be grown here with success. It is practically indigenous to that soil and the climatic conditions which exist over there.

At one of the clubs around Chicago the method was tried, I understand, a few years ago, but as to whether it was persevered in I cannot say. I was told that the idea was abandoned. However, for the benefit of those who would wish to have greens that would give them a minimum of worry the following directions may be acceptable. It will be evident at once that a putting green that is well drained is a better place for grass roots to spread in than one that is often wet from standing water—not on the surface but unseen to the eye—at the water table. The reasons are that the plant foods are more easily secured, there is more warmth in the soil and more air can be used, consequently a better condition all around that is conducive to growth.

Dig out your green to a depth of eighteen inches, then throw in about six inches of broken stone and cinders mixed. Roll down thoroughly, after which put on the same quantity of lake or sea sand, which will leave another six inches for the soil. Great care should be used in the selection of this top soil, and sand should be thoroughly mixed with it, according to its density. Well rotted stable manure should also be used to add humus to the soil. A thorough mixing of this manure and sandy soil would thus make for a splendid green, when one would have just as fine a bed as could be found anywhere for the propagation of the grasses best suited to the climatic conditions which exist. Of course the initial cost of such greens would be considerable, but would it not pay, in the matter of larger organizations that are just commencing, to have the work done in this way? The drainage would be perfect, the freedom from gravitational water standing and worm casts would be something to be thankful for and the nature of the grass which could be grown thereupon would be refined to a remarkable degree.

The care of the greens would be a good deal simplified, as with the mania for rolling, which seems to possess some of our Green Committees, little harm could be done on a green built up in this fashion. There would be so little soil to pack that even this could be done with impunity, although we never approve of it; that is, too much rolling under any conditions.

One might think also that the amount of water necessary to water these greens would add very much to the cost of maintenance. That might be true, but if a little judgment was exercised in the cutting of the greens there need be no extra cost added. There is a very pernicious habit in vogue in this country, which we consider a very foolish one, and that is cutting greens while the dew is on the grass. Always remember that "ilka blade of grass hauds its ain drap o' dew" and this is one of nature's most beneficent aids in the nourishment of grass life; and yet we see the mowers at work early in the morning cutting off blades of grass with the dew upon them, which under the heat of the sun is evaporated in a short time. It not only is taking away a great deal of the very best nourishment of plant life, but it never makes a good job in cutting the grass at such a time. Why not defer the cutting of the grass until the dew has been absorbed, say, until after 10 o'clock in the morning? This could be done without any trouble, except probably at exceptional times during the tournaments. If the dews were left to be absorbed naturally there would not be so much water required upon any putting green. It has been my observation that where this pointer has been given and attended to greens were in much better condition than where this was not done previously.

Naturally, on many of our courses methods so radical will never be attempted, yet a method of draining them by tiling should be resorted to if the desire is to have greens in good shape after the repeated thaws and frosts of a hard winter. A little judgment exercised by the greenkeeper during a wet spell will determine where the gravitational water stands on a rolling green, and his desire should be to lead the water off by means of a drain tile to another point where its presence will be less injurious. A judicious expenditure of money in this direction would give the quietus to many of the kicks one is accustomed to hear every spring leveled at the Green Committee when they take up the reigns of government.

There is no doubt about it, we have a great deal to learn in the building and care of putting greens, but we feel convinced if we just stop and think for a few moments, there are many common sense ideas that would appeal to us which should work for better conditions prevalent in this connection all around.

SANDING OF PUTTING GREENS

The late Tom Morris, St. Andrews' Grand Old Man of golf, has been and is made the casus belli between green committees and golfers in a way that he little dreamt of. Many years ago, in giving advice regarding work to be done on a certain golf course to bring greens into shape, he uttered a sentence which to some has become axiomatic—"hand on the sand." This advice, coming from a greenkeeper of his experience and ability, would doubtless carry a great deal of weight with a great number and, if adhered to discreetly, would result in splendid results. But this is where the great harm has been done; some have been so foolish as to blindly follow this advice without first finding out all about the conditions that obtained which called forth such a remark, as to whether their greens, upon which they carried out this admonition, were in a similar state to the ones he spoke of and whether the same method of treatment could be applied with beneficial effect or otherwise. In the majority of cases the answer is "No!"

Sand is a splendid thing for many purposes, and for a putting green where the soil is heavy and the growth rank the judicious use of sand is of great value. Sand has a twofold action when applied to a putting green. It acts as an aerater of the soil, the sharp particles forcing their way through the closely packed loam and thereby starting chemical action in the soil, by breaking up and allowing the various elements that go to build up plant life to become available, at the same time allowing the soil to receive a certain amount of moisture which if closely packed it would be impossible to get.

This is one of the chief reasons why so much watering is necessary to keep putting greens in good condition. A great deal of the water sprinkled (either naturally or artificially) never gets to the lower regions where the water stores are held. It is lost by surface drainage, owing to the surface soil being so tight and closely packed and thus becoming in a measure waterproof.

In the making of new greens on a stiff clay loam one of the best things that can be done, is to see to it that plenty of good sharp sand is spread over the land when plowed or spaded up. This will have the effect of making the soil much more porous, and allow of gravitational water getting more readily to the water table instead of running off.

Sand is also a refiner of the growth and a deterrent to rankness, and here is where so much harm is done. Anyone who has not made a study of the conditions that exist should not blindly "hand on the sand," as is sometimes done in the fall of the year to the depth, as we have often seen it, of an inch or more, with such disastrous effects.

Neither in the spring of the year, either, generally. Of course, in both cases, sometimes because of the virility of the soil and the amount of its food content no harm has been done, but we just wish it understood that such methods cannot be followed generally. Every case must be decided on its merits.

In the first instance, if done, it usually serves as a knockout to the already dying grass; if put on at the commencement of the spring season it has usually the effect of making growth backward. Nature is reasserting itself, and, instead of being retarded, it should be assisted. We would suggest as the result of observation that the best time to sand greens is probably after they have been opened to play upon, and then sprinkle sand upon them every month for a period of at least four or five months, never at any time too much, but just enough that a good shower of rain will have the effect of washing it in. This will have the effect of filling up all unevenness of surface, retarding rankness of growth, adding to the porosity of the soil and thus allowing of nitrification to take place more readily, and at the same time have no detrimental effect on the green at all. "A little and often" should be the treatment, when the result obtained will, I am sure, make for as fast and true a putting green as one could wish for.

The Rules of Golf

As Approved by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, September, 1912, and as adopted by the United States Golf Association, January 11, 1913.
Effective February 1, 1913.

Together with Recommendations, Form and Make of Golf Clubs, Etiquette, Special Rules for Match Play Competitions, Rules for Three Ball, Best Ball and Four Ball Matches, Special Rules for Stroke Competitions.

PREFACE.

The United States Golf Association, in making these Rulings and Interpretations, has made few changes in the wording, or in the import, of the Rules of Golf, as adopted by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, and has only added such definitions and explanations as appeared to be called for, or suggested by custom and decisions of competent experts.

The Interpretations and Decisions marked R. & A. have been taken from the decisions as rendered by the Rules of Golf Committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club and are used with their permission.

DEFINITIONS.

Side. (1) A "side" consists either of one player or of two players. If one player play against another the match is called "a single." If two play against two, each side playing one ball, the match is called "a foursome." If one play against two playing one ball between them, the match is called a "three-some."

Advice. (2) "Advice" is any counsel or suggestion which could influence a player in determining the line of play, in the choice of a club, or in the method of making a stroke.

A player may ask anyone to indicate the line to the hole before the shot is played. (R. & A.)

Course. (3) The "Course" is the whole area within which play is permitted; more particularly, it is the ground between the holes which is specially prepared for play.

Teeing-ground. (4) The "teeing-ground" is the starting place for a hole. The front of each teeing-ground shall be indicated by two marks placed in a line as nearly as possible at right angles to the line of play, and the teeing ground shall include a rectangular space of the depth of two club lengths directly behind the line indicated by the two marks.

(5) "Through the green" is all ground on which play is permitted, except hazards and the putting-green of the hole that is being played. Through the green.

(6) A "hazard" is any bunker, water (except casual water), ditch (unless excepted by Local Rule), bush, sand, path, or road. Sand blown on to the grass, or sprinkled on the course for its preservation, bare patches, sheep tracks, snow, and ice are not hazards. Hazard.

Heather is not a hazard. (R. & A.)

Bent is not a hazard. (R. & A.)

Long Grass is not a hazard unless within the boundaries of a hazard. (R. & A.)

A "Bunker" is a depression in the ground where the natural soil is exposed, and sometimes top dressed with softer soil or sand. It is the duty of the Authorities in charge of the golf course to define its hazards by Local Rules. (R. & A.)

(7) "Casual water" is any temporary accumulation of water (whether caused by rainfall, flooding, or otherwise) which is not one of the ordinary and recognized hazards of the course. Casual water.

The definition of "water" in the term "Casual water" is any water which interferes with the lie of the ball or the stance of the player. (R. & A.)

(8) "Out of bounds" is all ground on which play is prohibited. Out of bounds.

(9) A ball is "out of bounds" when the greater part of it lies within a prohibited area. Ball, when out of bounds.

(10) The "putting-green" is all ground, except hazards, within twenty yards of the hole. Putting green.

(11) The hole shall be $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches in diameter, and at least 4 inches deep. If a metal lining be used, it shall be sunk below the lip of the hole, and its outer diameter shall not exceed $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches. Hole.

(12) The term "loose impediments" denotes any obstructions not fixed or growing, and includes dung, worm-casts, mole-hills, snow and ice. Loose impediments.

Loose Stones are "Loose Impediments." (R. & A.)

Rocks embedded in the ground come under the head of "things fixed." Rule 15. (R. & A.)

A sand box placed at a teeing-ground is a "loose impediment." (R. & A.)

A live worm is a "loose impediment" and may be lifted. (R. & A.)

(13) A "stroke" is the forward movement of the club made with the intention of striking the ball, or any contact between the head of the club and the Stroke.

ball, resulting in movement of the ball, except in case of a ball accidentally knocked off a tee (Rule 2 (1)).

If a ball leaves its original position when the player has taken his stance in addressing the ball and moves in the slightest degree and does not merely oscillate, it has moved, and the movement constitutes a stroke, not a penalty stroke. (R. & A.)

Penalty stroke. (14) A "penalty stroke" is a stroke added to the score of a side under certain rules, and does not affect the rotation of play.

Honour. (15) The side which plays off first from a teeing-ground is said to have the "honour."

Teeing. (16) In "teeing," the ball may be placed on the ground, or on sand or other substance, in order to raise it off the ground.

There is no specified method of placing a ball, and the player is at liberty to drop it. (R. & A.)

Addressing the ball. (17) A player has "addressed the ball" when he has taken his stance and grounded his club, or, if in a hazard, when he has taken his stance preparatory to striking at the ball.

In play. (18) A ball is "in play" as soon as the player has made a stroke at a teeing-ground, and it remains in play until holed out, except when lifted in accordance with the rules.

Ball deemed to move. (19) A ball is deemed to "move" if it leave its original position in the least degree; but it is not considered to "move" if it merely oscillate and come to rest in its original position.

Ball, lost. (20) A ball is "lost" if it be not found within five minutes after the search for it has begun.

Terms used in reckoning game. (21) The reckoning of strokes is kept by the terms—"the odd," "two more," "three more," etc., and "one off three," "one off two," "the like." The reckoning of holes is kept by the terms—so many "holes up," or "all even," and so many "to play."

A side is said to be "dormie" when it is as many holes up as there are holes remaining to be played.

Umpire and Referee. (22) An "umpire" decides questions of fact; a "referee" decides questions of Golfing Law.

GENERAL AND THROUGH THE GREEN.

RULE I.

Mode of play. (1) "The Game of Golf is played by two sides, each playing its own ball, with clubs made in conformity with the directions laid down in the clause on the 'Form and Make of Golf Clubs'."

The game consists in each side playing a ball from a teeing-ground into a hole by successive strokes. The hole is won by the side which holes its ball in fewer strokes than the opposing side, except as otherwise provided for in the Rules.

The hole is halved if both sides hole out in the same number of strokes.

(2) A match consists of one round of the course unless it be otherwise agreed. A match is won by the side which is leading by a number of holes greater than the number of holes remaining to be played. Conditions of match.

A match is halved if each side win the same number of holes.

Matches constituted of singles, threesomes, or foursomes shall have precedence of and be entitled to pass any other kind of match. Priority on the course.

A single player has no standing, and shall always give way to a match of any kind.

Any match playing a whole round shall be entitled to pass a match playing a shorter round.

If a match fail to keep its place on the green, and lose in distance more than one clear hole on the players in front, it may be passed, on request being made.

Two players playing a single ball are treated as a single player. (R. & A.)

RULE II.

(1) A match begins by each side playing a ball from the first teeing-ground. Priority on the teeing-ground.

A ball played from outside the limits of the teeing-ground may be at once recalled by the opposing side, and may be re-teed without penalty.

If a ball, when not in play, fall off a tee, or be knocked off a tee by the player in addressing it, it may be re-teed without penalty; if the ball be struck when so moving, no penalty shall be incurred.

In Stroke Competition if a competitor play his first stroke from outside the limits of the teeing ground, he shall count that stroke, tee a ball, and play his second stroke from within these limits. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification. (R. & A.)

(2) The option of taking the honour at the first teeing-ground shall, if necessary, be decided by lot. The honour.

A ball played by a player when his opponent should have had the honour may be at once recalled by the opposing side, and may be re-teeed without penalty.

The side which wins a hole shall take the honour at the next teeing-ground. If a hole has been halved, the side which had the honour at the previous teeing-ground shall retain it.

On beginning a new match, the winner of the long match in the previous round shall take the honour; if the previous long match was halved, the side which last won a hole shall take the honour.

RULE III.

Order of play in threesome and foursome. In a threesome or foursome the partners shall strike off alternately from the teeing-grounds, and shall strike alternately during the play of each hole.

If a player play when his partner should have played, his side shall lose the hole.

In Stroke Competition violation of this Rule is disqualification. (R. & A.)

In Match Play, loss of the hole. (R. & A.)

A penalty stroke does not affect the rotation of play. (R. & A.)

RULE IV.

Asking advice. (1) A player may not ask for nor willingly receive advice from any one except his own caddie, his partner or his partner's caddie.

Information as to strokes played. (2) A player is entitled at any time during the play of a hole to ascertain from his opponent the number of strokes the latter has played; if the opponent give wrong information as to the number of strokes he has played, he shall lose the hole unless he correct his mistake before the player has played another stroke.

An exception to this Rule is that anyone can indicate the line to the hole. (R. & A.)

In Stroke Competition the penalty is disqualification. (R. & A.)

In Match Play the penalty is the loss of the hole. (R. & A.)

Advice from forecaddie. (3) A player may employ a forecaddie, but may not receive advice from him.

In Match Play the penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole.

In Stroke Competition the penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

(4) When playing through the green, or from a hazard, a player may have the line to the hole indicated to him, but no mark shall be placed, nor shall anyone stand on the proposed line, in order to indicate it, while the stroke is being made.

Indicating
line of play.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play.

The penalty for a breach of this rule in Stroke Competition shall be the loss of two strokes.

RULE V.

The ball must be fairly struck at with the head of the club, not pushed, scraped nor spooned.

Ball to be fairly struck at.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play.

The penalty for a breach of this rule in Stroke Competition shall be two strokes.

RULE VI.

A ball must be played wherever it lies or the hole be given up, except as otherwise provided for in the Rules and Local Rules.

Ball played wherever it lies

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition. (See Rule 2, Stroke Competition.)

RULE VII.

When the balls are in play, the ball farther from the hole shall be played first. Through the green, or in a hazard, if a player play when his opponent should have played, the opponent may at once recall the stroke. A ball so recalled shall be dropped as near as possible to the place where it lay, without penalty.

The ball farther
played first.

For teeing ground, see Rule 2 (2); for putting green, see Rule 31 (2).

RULE VIII.

A ball shall be dropped in the following manner: The player himself shall drop it. He shall face the hole, stand erect, and drop the ball behind him over his shoulder.

How to drop a ball.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

If, in the act of dropping, the ball touch the player, he shall incur no penalty, and, if it roll into a hazard, the player may re-drop the ball without penalty.

RULE IX.

Ball not to be touched except in addressing, for identification.

(1) A ball in play may not be touched before the hole is played out, except as provided for in the Rules.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be one stroke in Match or Stroke Competition.

The player may, without penalty, touch his ball with his club in the act of addressing it, provided he does not move the ball. A ball in play may, with the opponent's consent, be lifted for the purpose of identification, but it must be carefully replaced.

If in searching for a ball a player or his caddie move it, the penalty is the loss of one stroke in Match or Stroke Play. (R. & A.)

Ball moved by opponent's ball.

(2) If the player's ball move the opponent's ball through the green, or in a hazard, the opponent, if he choose, may drop a ball, without penalty, as near as possible to the place where his ball lay, but this must be done before another stroke is played by either side.

RULE X.

Removal of irregularities of surface.

In playing through the green, irregularities of surface which could in any way affect the player's stroke shall not be removed nor pressed down by the player, his partner or either of their caddies; a player is, however, always entitled to place his feet firmly on the ground when taking his stance.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

RULE XI.

Removal of obstructions.

Any flag-stick, guide-flag, movable guide-post, wheelbarrow, tool, roller, grass-cutter, box, vehicle or similar obstruction may be removed. A ball moved in removing such an obstruction shall be replaced without penalty. A ball lying on or touching such an obstruction, or lying on or touching clothes, or nets, or ground under repair or covered up or opened for the purpose of the upkeep of the course, or lying in one of the holes, or in a guide-flag hole, or in a hole made by the greenkeeper, may be lifted and dropped without penalty as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer to the hole. A ball lifted in a hazard under such circumstances shall be dropped in the hazard.

If a ball lie on or within a club's length of a drain-cover, water-pipe or hydrant, located on the course, it may be lifted and dropped without penalty, as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole—as near as possible shall mean—"within a club's length." If it be impossible for want of space or other cause for a player to drop the ball in conformity with this interpretation, he shall place the ball as nearly as possible within the limits laid down in this interpretation, but not nearer the hole. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be the loss of the hole in Match Play, and the loss of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

A player may take a practice swing or swings after the ball is in play, more than a club's length from the ball. (U. S. G. A.)

In grounding a club, a player may only ground his club lightly. Drawing it back and forward across the line of play is illegal and entails a penalty of the loss of the hole in Match Play and a penalty of two strokes in Stroke Competition.

Undue pressure in grounding a club entails a like penalty. (R. & A.)

RULE XVI.

When the balls lie within a club length of each other through the green or in a hazard, the ball lying nearer to the hole may, at the option of either the player or the opponent, be lifted until the other ball is played, and shall then be replaced as near as possible to the place where it lay.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification. (See Rule 8, Rules for play in Stroke Competition.)

On the putting-green the ball shall be replaced.

kept.

(1) The score for each hole shall be kept by a marker or by each competitor noting the other's score. Should more than one marker keep a score, each shall sign the part of the score for which he is responsible. The scores should be called out after each hole. On completion of the stipulated round the card shall be signed by the person who has marked it, and the competitor shall see that it is handed in as soon as reasonably possible. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

Scoring cards should be issued with the date and the player's name entered on the card.

A caddie cannot be considered a "marker." Under urgent and exceptional conditions, however, the Committee may alter this interpretation. (R. & A.)

(2) Competitors must satisfy themselves before the cards are handed in that the scores for each hole are correctly marked, as no alteration can be made on any card after it has been returned. If it be found that a competitor has returned a score lower than that actually played, he shall be disqualified. For the additions of the scores marked the Committee shall be responsible.

Marking and addition of scores.

(3) If, on the completion of the stipulated round, a player is doubtful whether he has incurred a penalty at any hole, he may enclose his scoring card with a written statement of the circumstances to the Committee, who shall decide what penalty, if any, has been incurred.

Committee to decide doubtful penalties.

RULES FOR PLAY IN STROKE COMPETITIONS.

RULE VI.

A competitor shall not ask for nor willingly receive advice from anyone except his caddie.

Advice.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

RULE VII.

(1) Competitors should strike off from the first teeing ground in the order in which their names appear upon the starting list. Thereafter the honour shall be taken as in match play, but if a competitor, by mistake, play out of turn, no penalty shall be incurred, and the stroke cannot be recalled.

Order of starting—the honour.

(2) If at any hole a competitor play his first stroke from outside the limits of the teeing ground, he shall count that stroke, tee a ball, and play his second stroke from within these limits.

Playing outside limits of teeing ground.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

RULE VIII.

(1) A competitor must hole out with his own ball at every hole. The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

Must hole out with own ball.

(2) If a competitor play a stroke with a ball other than his own he shall incur no penalty provided he then play his own ball; but if he plays two consecutive strokes with a wrong ball, he shall be disqualified.

Playing two consecutive strokes with wrong ball.

Exception in hazards. (3) In a hazard if a competitor play more than one stroke with a ball other than his own, and the mistake be discovered before he has played a stroke with the wrong ball from outside the limits of the hazard, he shall incur no penalty provided he then play his own ball.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

RULE IX.

Ball striking the player. If a competitor's ball strike or be stopped by himself, his clubs or his caddie, the penalty shall be one stroke, except as provided for in Stroke Rule 13 (1).

RULE X.

Ball striking or moved by another competitor. (1) If a competitor's ball strike or be stopped by another competitor, or his clubs, or his caddie, it is a rub of the green, and the ball shall be played from where it lies, except as provided for in Stroke Rule 13 (1). If a competitor's ball which is at rest be accidentally moved by another competitor, or his caddie, or his clubs, or his ball, or any outside agency except wind, it shall be replaced as near as possible to the spot where it lay.

The penalty for a breach of this Rule shall be disqualification.

Allowed to lift another competitor's ball. (2) A competitor may have any other player's ball played or lifted, at the option of its owner, if he finds that it interferes with his play.

RULE XI.

Lifting ball under two strokes penalty. (1) A ball may be lifted from any place on the course under penalty of two strokes. If a player lift a ball in accordance with this rule, he shall tee and play a ball behind the place from which the ball was lifted; if this be impossible, he shall tee and play a ball as near as possible to the place from which the ball was lifted, but not nearer to the hole.

In preparing a tee as above authorized, the player is exempted from the restrictions imposed by Rule 15.

The penalty for a breach of this Section of the Rule shall be disqualification.

(2) For the purpose of identification, a competitor may at any time lift and carefully replace his ball in the presence of the player with whom he is competing.

Lifting for identification.

The penalty for a breach of this Section of the Rule shall be one stroke.

RULE XII.

If a ball be "lost" (except in water, casual water, or out of bounds), the competitor shall, whether he has played from "through the green" or from a hazard, return as near as possible to the spot from which the ball was struck, and there tee a ball under penalty of one stroke.

Ball lost.

[Under this Rule a ball shall only be considered lost, when it has not been found after a search of five minutes.]

It is usual to frame Local Rules for Special Hazards in the following way, viz: "If a ball lie or be lost in, etc.," or to treat the hazard as "out of bounds." (R. & A.)

RULE XIII.

(1) When a competitor's ball lying within twenty yards of the hole is played and strikes or is stopped by the flag-stick or the person standing at the hole, the penalty shall be two strokes.

Play within 20 yards of hole. Ball striking flag-stick, etc.

Neglect on the part of the person standing at the hole does not exempt the Competitor from incurring the penalty. (R. & A.)

(2) When both balls are on the putting-green, if a competitor's ball strike the ball of the player with whom he is competing, the competitor shall incur a penalty of one stroke, and the ball which was struck shall be at once replaced; see Stroke Rule 10 (1).

Ball striking fellow-competitor's ball.

(3) The competitor whose ball is the farther from the hole may have the ball which is nearer to the hole lifted or played at the option of its owner. If the latter refuse to comply with this Rule when requested to do so, he shall be disqualified.

Nearer ball may be lifted.

(4) If the competitor whose ball is the nearer to the hole consider that his ball might be of assistance to the player with whom he is competing, he should lift it or play first.

Ball nearer hole of assistance to player.

(5) If the competitor whose ball is the nearer to the hole lift his ball while the player's ball is in motion, he shall incur a penalty of one stroke.

Ball lifted when player's ball is in motion.

Ball lifted before holed out. (6) If a competitor or his caddie pick up his ball from the putting-green before it is holed out (except as provided for above), he shall, before he has struck off from the next tee, or, in the case of the last hole on the ground, before he has left the putting-green, be permitted to replace the ball under penalty of two strokes.

RULE XIV.

General penalty. Where in the Rules of Golf the penalty for the breach of any Rule is the loss of the hole, in stroke competitions the penalty shall be the loss of two strokes, except where otherwise provided for in these Special Rules.

RULE XV.

General rule. The Rules of Golf, so far as they are not at variance with these Special Rules, shall apply to stroke competitions.

RULE XVI.

Disputes, how decided. If a dispute arise on any point it shall be decided by the Committee, whose decision shall be final, unless an appeal be made to the Executive Committee, as provided for in Rule 36.

Rules for Bogey Competitions

A Bogey competition is a series of Stroke Competitions in which play is against a fixed score at each hole of the stipulated round or rounds, and the winner is the competitor who is most successful in the aggregate of these competitions. The rules for stroke competitions shall apply with the following exceptions:

- 1—Any hole for which a competitor makes no return shall be regarded as a loss. The marker shall only be responsible for the marking of the correct number of strokes at each hole at which a competitor makes a score either equal to or less than the fixed score.
- 2—Any breach of rule which entails the penalty of disqualification shall only disqualify the competitor for the hole at which the breach occurred; but a competitor shall not be exempted from the general disqualification imposed by Stroke Rules 2 (1), 4 (2) and 5 (1) and (2).

NOTE—A scale showing the handicap allowance and indicating the holes at which strokes are to be given or taken shall be printed on the back of every scoring card.

The United States Golf Association recommends that clubs continue to follow the custom of allowing each competitor three-quarters of his full handicap.

Changes and Interpretations

Changes in the Rules of Golf

As Adopted at the Annual Meeting of the United States Golf Association, January 14, 1911.

First sentence of paragraph 1 of Rule 1, to read as follows:

"The game of golf is played by two sides, each playing its own ball, with clubs made in conformity with the directions laid down in the clause on the 'Form and Make of Golf Clubs.'"

Clause entitled "Form and Make of Golf Clubs," to read as follows:

"The United States Golf Association will not sanction any substantial departure from the traditional and accepted form and make of Golf Clubs which, in its opinion, consist of a plain shaft and a head which does not contain any mechanical contrivance, such as springs; it also regards as illegal the use of such clubs as those of the mallet-headed type, or such clubs as have the neck so bent as to produce a similar effect."

Special Interpretations of the Rules of Golf.

As Passed By the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association, February 17, 1909, to January 14, 1912.

Interpretation of clause entitled "Form and Make of Golf Clubs."

"The shaft of a putter may be fixed at the heel or at any other point in the head.

"The term mallet-headed, as above used, when applied to putters does not embrace putters of the so-called Schenectady type."

Interpretation of General Rule No. 11:

"If a ball lie on or within a club's length of a drain-cover, water-pipe or hydrant, located on the course, it may be lifted and dropped without penalty, as near as possible to the place where it lay, but not nearer the hole—as near as possible shall mean—'within a club's length.' If it be impossible for want of space or other cause for a player to drop the ball in conformity with this interpretation, he shall place the ball as nearly as possible within the limits laid down in this interpretation, but not nearer the hole."

Interpretation of General Rule 12:

"A mole-hill or mole-track may be removed from the fair green in any way which will not unnecessarily interfere with the surface of the green."

Interpretation of General Rule 15:

"A player may take practice swing or swings after the ball is in play, more than a club's length from the ball."

Interpretation of General Rule 23:

"If it is doubtful that a ball be out of bounds, the player who played it is not entitled to presume that it is out of bounds until he has made a search of five minutes for it. Meanwhile, his opponent may make a search of five minutes for the ball within bounds, and if the ball is not found within that time, the player who struck the ball shall be given the benefit of the doubt, and the ball shall be considered 'out of bounds.'"

Changes in the By-Laws.

Section X of the By-Laws of the Association has been amended to read as follows:

"The competitions shall be played in accordance with the rules of golf as approved by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland, September, 1908, with such amendments and interpretations only as may have been or may be hereafter adopted by the United States Golf Association, together with such local rules as are in force and published on the green over which the competitions are played."

The Amateur Rule.

As a result of the amateur rule discussion begun in the spring of 1914, which reached its climax at the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association in January, 1915, a revision of the amateur rule and the method of investigating violations of it have been adopted by the U. S. G. A. executive committee and were announced on March 20, by Howard F. Whitney, secretary of the national association. Sections 7 and 8 of the U. S. G. A. by-laws have been amended and revised and now read:

Sec. 7. An amateur golfer is one who has not accepted, directly or indirectly, any fee, gratuity, money or its equivalent as a consideration for the performance of any act or service arising in connection with the game of golf and who is not or has not been a professional in any other branch of athletics. Provided, however, that the above shall not apply to writing, editing or publishing articles, magazines or books on golf, or to laying out, constructing, supervising or giving advice concerning the layout, construction or upkeep of a golf course or any part thereof.

Any person who becomes ineligible by reason of this by-law may be reinstated by giving to the executive committee of this association satisfactory evidence of meriting such reinstatement.

No occurrence prior to January 8, 1915, shall affect the status of any person who was in good standing as an amateur golfer on said date.

The following are the violations of the above rule:

1. Playing or teaching the game of golf for pay. This includes accepting travelling or living expenses for playing over a course or for participating in a golf tournament, contest or exhibition.
2. Personally making or repairing golf clubs, golf balls or other golf articles for pay.
3. Serving after reaching the age of 16 as caddie, caddie master or greenkeeper for hire.
4. Lending one's name or likeness for the advertisement or sale of anything except as a dealer, manufacturer or inventor thereof in the usual course of business.
5. Permitting one's name to be advertised or published for pay as the author of books or articles on golf of which one is not actually the author.

Sec. 8. The executive committee shall take cognizance of every apparent violation of section 7 that may come to its attention in any manner whatsoever; it shall exercise absolute discretion in the interpretation and enforcement of the by-laws for the purpose of safeguarding the best interests of the game of golf and shall have power to inflict such penalties as the circumstances of each case may in its judgment justify.

The announcement of the new wording of the amateur definition is preceded by a letter written by Frank L. Woodward of the U. S. G. A., addressed "To the Golf Players and Golf Officials of the United States." It will be posted on the bulletin board of every club which is a member of the United States Golf Association. The letter reviews the long discussion of the amateur question and declares that in the future violations will be rigorously punished. It says, in part:

"It will be observed that a greater degree of freedom of action and discretion is accorded the committee, resulting in a corresponding increase in its responsibility. It is thus placed in a situation that would be regarded as unwelcome by most men, but the executive committee is convinced that the vast majority of golfers are in sympathy with their efforts to maintain the highest possible standard in the game. It is realized that the sole purpose of the committee is to safeguard the interests of golf; to preserve it as it has always been, a dignified recreation and gentlemanly pastime; to remove from it as far as may be any taint of commercialism, and to prevent its being used by amateurs to any extent whatever as a source of income or remuneration. The committee therefore counts upon the assistance and co-operation of this vast majority in administering the responsibilities that have been placed upon it, and the firm belief is entertained that when the situation is once fully understood and a knowledge of what is expected becomes current instances like those that have heretofore given rise to criticism will no longer occur. The situation of the committee if this proves to be true is relieved of all of its unwelcome accompaniments and a reasonable basis is afforded for the confident hope that no actual occasion for drastic discipline will in fact arise.

"Attention is particularly called to the new reading of Section 8. Heretofore no inquiry into the acts or practices of golfers was regarded as authorized except upon the filing of a formal written protest accompanied by certified statements of club secretaries. Now the whole subject is relieved of any red tape or complications, and the committee is directed to take cognizance of every case, no matter how the information reaches it. The former apparent inattention will no longer be the rule. The committee will consider itself obliged to investigate every case as thoroughly as possible, and if it finds circumstances that seem to require action it will determine as to the penalty, whether it is to be reprimand, suspension for a definite period, or complete forfeiture of amateur status. It is the bona fides of every transaction that will be particularly inquired into. The aim will be in every instance to discover what was the real object of the act or practice complained of. If the facts disclose that the motives of the act were harmless or not in reality in violation of the spirit of the rule no penalty would be exacted. Quite the opposite would result if it is shown that there has been the slightest attempt to exploit a player's proficiency or prominence in the game for any sort of consideration or emolument.

"At the annual meeting much was said about the primary responsibility of various club officials who have put temptation in the way of players by offering inducements to them to play over their courses, attend tournaments and the like. This was held in a measure to exonerate the players who accepted these offers. No language is too severe in condemnation of such heedlessness on the part of golf officials, but the day for this to be offered as an excuse for his action by any player has passed because the viciousness of the custom has been pointed out and the fact that it constitutes an offense has been explained. The golfers of the country are all possessed of sufficient intelligence to understand the rules and standards of golfing behavior. It is their duty to post themselves upon the requirements. Leniency should not be expected from the committee after the publicity that has been given to all the various phases of the question.

"The agitation of this amateur question has been beneficial, for it has riveted the attention of not only golfers but all classes interested in sports to the importance of preserving the purity of amateurism. It has produced so much discussion that more people than ever before now know what is really meant by the term amateur, with the result that a much more general understanding prevails regarding the limitations attached to the activities of an amateur. One of the functions of the executive committee is to so administer the duties of their office as to avoid friction and contention. This largely accounts for their pacific attitude at the time when disturbing incidents were otherwise to have been expected. The executive committee is perfectly well aware, however, that there was more than a little fire behind the vast amount of smoke that was rising. In the minds of a few players and of some club officials a deplorably low standard of conduct has been observed. Quite recently some prominent golfers who would have scorned to play for an actual money prize did play for certificates that were exchangeable into any form of merchandise. This instance is cited merely to show how far some golfers have yet to go before the amateur impulse within them may be said to be instinctive. To golfers of this description a kindly word of admonition is herewith proffered. The executive committee has been long suffering and very slow to anger. It will earnestly strive to be reasonable and always just, but it is quite capable of all the firmness and decision that its duties demand of it.

"The whole subject of this amateur question is in reality most simple if only it is approached with the attitude of willingness to do the right thing. The commanding necessity at this time is the awakening of a high sense of duty and obligation throughout the ranks of golfers in this country. The executive committee should not be compelled to drive players into the habit of compliance with regulations. There must be developed a more enlightened public opinion upon the subject that will result in the instinctive avoidance of questionable practices. We may be said to have passed through a sort of crisis in this matter; we have had a careful housecleaning and are starting fresh once more. If the point of view of all players can be said now to have been so altered that they will approach every problem as it arises with the query 'Does this conform to the proper spirit of the game?' rather than the more frequent one: 'Is there anything in the rule to prevent this,' the object that the executive committee has had in mind will have been achieved and the time and labor spent upon the improvement and revision of the by-laws will have been most aptly rewarded."

The executive committee, although ready and willing to investigate violations of the new rule, has addressed a note to the golf clubs of the country asking the local officials to deal with such violations as far as possible, and if the matter has gone too far, to submit the facts to the U. S. G. A. executive committee.

Glossary of Technical Terms Employed in the Game of Golf

Addressing the ball—Putting one's self in position to strike the ball.

Approach—When the player is sufficiently near the hole to be able to drive the ball to the putting green his stroke is called the "approach shot."

Baff—To strike the ground with the "sole" of the club-head in playing, and so send ball in air.

Baffy—A wooden club to play lofting shots.

Bent—Rush, bent-grass.

Bogey—Usually given the title of colonel. A phantom who is credited with a certain score for each hole, against which score each player is competing.

Bone—A piece of ram's horn inserted in the sole of the club to prevent it from splitting.

Brassie—A wooden club with a brass sole.

Break-club—An obstacle lying near a ball of such a nature as might break the club when striking at the ball.

Bulger—A club with a convex face.

Bunker—Generally any rough, hazardous ground—more strictly, a sandpit.

Bye—Any hole or holes that remain to be played after the match is finished. They are played for singly, unless the sides agree to make another match of them.

Caddie—A person who carries the golfer's clubs, and who can usually give him advice in regard to the game.

Cleek—An iron-headed club of considerable driving power, and sometimes used for putting.

Club—The implement with which the ball is struck. The heads are of three kinds—wood, wood with a brass sole, and iron only.

Course—That portion of the links on which the game ought to be played, generally bounded on either side by rough ground or other hazard.

Cup—A small hole in the course, usually one made by the stroke of some previous player.

Dead—A ball is said to be "dead" when it lies so near the hole that the "putt" is a dead certainty. A ball is said to fall "dead" when it does not run after alighting.

Dormy—One side is said to be "dormy" when it is as many holes ahead as there remain holes to play. (This word is probably derived from the French, like many Scottish terms.)

Draw—To drive widely to the left hand. (Identical in its results with Hook and Screw.)

Driver—See Play-Club.

Face—First, the slope of a bunker or hillock; second, the part of the club-head which strikes the ball.

Flat—A club is said to be "flat" when its head is at a very obtuse angle to the shaft.

Fog—Moss, rank grass.

Fore!—A warning cry to any person in the way of the stroke. (Contracted from "before.")

Foursome—A match in which two play on each side.

Gobble—A rapid, straight "putt" into the hole, such that, had the ball not gone in, it would have gone some distance beyond.

Grassed—Said of a club whose face is slightly "spooned" or sloped backward.

Green—First, the whole links; second, the putting-ground around the different holes.

Grip—First, the part of the handle covered with leather, by which the club is grasped; second, the grasp itself.

Half-one—A handicap of a stroke deducted every second hole.

Half-shot—Less than a full swing.

Halved—A hole is said to be "halved" when each side takes the same number of strokes. A "halved" match is a "drawn game"—that is, the players have proved to be equal.

Hanging—A "hanging" ball is one which lies on a downward slope.

Hazard—A general term for bunker, long grass, road, water, whin, molehill, or other bad ground.

Head—This word is a striking specimen of incongruity and mixed metaphor. A head is the lowest part of a club, and possesses, among other mysterious characteristics, a sole, a heel, a toe or nose, a neck and a face.

Heel—First, the part of the head nearest the shaft; second, to hit from this part, and send the ball to the right hand.

Hole—First, the four and one-quarter-inch hole lined with iron; the holes going out are marked with white, and those coming in, with red flags. Second, the whole space between any two of these.

Honor—The right to play off first from the tee.

Hook—See Draw.

Hose—The socket in iron-headed clubs, into which the wooden shaft fits.

Iron—A club made of the material its name implies, with the head more or less laid back to loft a ball. A most deadly weapon in a good player's hands.

Jerk—In "jerking," the club should strike with a quick cut behind the ball, and stoop on reaching the ground.

Lie—First, the inclination of a club when held on the ground in a natural position for striking; second, the situation of a ball, good or bad.

Like—See under Odds.

Like-as-we-lie—When both sides have played the same number of strokes.

Links—The open downs or heath on which golf is played.

Loft—To elevate the ball.

Long odds—When a player has to play a stroke more than his adversary, who is much farther on—that is, nearer the hole.

Made—A player, or his ball, is said to be "made" when his ball is sufficiently near the hole to be played on the putting green next shot.

Maashie—A club which, both in its make and its uses, is a compromise between the niblic and the iron.

Match—First, the sides playing against each other; second, the game itself.

Miss the globe—To fail to strike the ball, either by swinging right over the top of it, or by hitting the ground behind it, is counted a stroke.

Neck—The crook of the head where it joins the shaft.

Niblic—A small, narrow-headed, heavy iron club, used when the ball lies in bad places, as ruts or whins, etc.

Nose—The point or front portion of the club-head.

Odds—First, means the handicap given by a strong player to a weaker in a single match, consisting of either one, two, three or more holes to start with, or one stroke per hole, or every alternate hole, or at every third hole, etc.; second, to have played the "odds" is to have played one stroke more than your adversary. Some other terms used in counting the game will be most easily explained here altogether. If your opponent has played one stroke more than you—that is, "the odds"—your next stroke will be "the like;" if two strokes more—that is, "the two more"—your next stroke will be "the one off two;" if "three more," "the one off three," and so on.

One-off-two, One-off-three, etc.—See under Odds.

Play-club—A wooden-headed club, with full-length shaft, more or less supple; with it the ball can be driven to the greatest distance. It is used when the ball lies well.

Press—To strive to recover lost ground by special hard hitting—a very dangerous thing to attempt.

Putt—To play the delicate game close to the hole. (Pronounced "u" as in but.)

Putter—An upright, stiff-shafted, wooden-headed club (some use iron heads), used when the ball is on the putting green.

Rind—A strip of cloth under the leather to thicken the grip.

Rub on the green—A favorable or unfavorable knock to the ball, for which no penalty is imposed, and which must be submitted to.

Scare—The narrow part of the club-head by which it is glued to the handle.

- Sciaff—When the club-head strikes the ground behind the ball and follows on with a ricochet.
- Scruff—Slightly razing the grass in striking.
- Set—A full complement of clubs.
- Shaft—The stick or handle of the club.
- Sole—The flat bottom of the club-head.
- Spoons—Wooden-headed clubs of three lengths—long, middle and short; the head is scooped, so as to loft the ball.
- Spring—The degree of suppleness in the shaft.
- Square—When the game stands evenly balanced, neither side being any holes ahead.
- Stance—The position of the player's feet when addressing himself to the ball.
- Steal—To hole an unlikely "putt" from a distance, but not by a "gobble."
- Stroke—The act of hitting the ball with the club, or the attempt to do so.
- Stymie—When your opponent's ball lies in the line of your "putt."
- Swing—The sweep of the club in driving.
- Swipe—A full driving stroke.
- Tee—The pat of sand on which the ball is placed for the first stroke each hole.
- Third—A handicap of a stroke deducted every third hole.
- Toe—Another name for the nose of the club.
- Top—To hit the ball above its center.
- Two-more, Three-more, etc.—See under Odds.
- Upright—A club is said to be "upright" when its head is not at a very obtuse angle to the shaft.
- Whins—Furze or gorse.
- Whipping—The pitched twine uniting the head and handle.
- Wrist shot—Less than half a shot, generally played with an iron club.

SPALDING GOLF BALLS

Attention is especially called to our extensive variety of balls as listed below. Experts have assisted us in establishing this line, basing their advice, as we have our manufacture, upon variations that must unavoidably occur in the conditions under which the game is played, and upon the varying requirements of individual players themselves. A ball that is best adapted through weight, construction and size to one style of play, necessarily cannot be as advantageously employed by a type widely differing. According to its construction each kind of ball must react differently to varying degrees of impact imposed upon it. We respectfully submit, therefore, the detailed specifications of our balls for careful consideration.

SPALDING GOLF BALL SPECIFICATIONS

* These figures show the comparative hardness of balls, and are based on the arbitrary scale of our own compression machine, the higher figures representing the softer, the lower the harder balls. We cannot guarantee a perfect degree of uniformity in our Red Dot and Bob balls.

Any large size ball weighing over 1.50 ounces will sink in water.

A sphere's roll from a given initial momentum is a matter of size and weight, plus surface resiliency. Owing to the vital part played by control in golf, we feel it to be advantageous to secure distance from flight rather than from roll, as far as it is possible, and to partially at least eliminate this same undependable "surface resiliency."

It must be remembered that in the construction of golf balls something must be sacrificed. It is impossible to make one ball that will combine all features. The harder a ball is the less likely it is to prove durable, it being then subject to cutting, while in making it softer one destroys its usefulness for the expert and its controlability on greens, though at the same time it is made more durable. Each player should determine individually which kind of ball is most suitable.

Golf Ball Information—Anyone wishing to secure advice on the ball that is best fitted for his style of play can do so by addressing A. G. Spalding & Bros., Golf Ball Department, either at 28-30 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, or Chicopee, Mass. Communications addressed to either of these points will receive the personal attention of qualified experts.

SPALDING GOLF BALLS

As manufacturers we claim for our Honor balls a longer flight than for any ball yet made, and base this claim upon the results of exhaustive scientific tests against all others, domestic and imported.

RED HONOR

With the Bullet Honor, an extreme "distance" ball. Successfully used in every important tournament last season. Used by the winners in the Open, Amateur, and Women's Championships. Sinks in water.....Dozen, $9.00

BULLET HONOR

For a hard hitter on sound turf, the longest ball ever made. The Honor construction, which combines great carrying distance with reliable short game control, we consider the most scientific construction yet applied to a golf ball. Sinks in waterDozen, $9.00

The Spalding Rigden Patent Wood Clubs, with insertion of a specially fastened brass back (see sectional cut above) in place of the ordinary lead one, represent the first substantial advance over the original method of weighting wooden clubs. We claim this method of weighting prevents shifting of the weight, concentrates maximum force behind the point of impact, balances the club with mathematical accuracy, and protects the back of the club under extraordinary wear, as encountered in playing from hard dirt tees. Made in two distinct types, comprising five different models.

No. R. Round type of head, presenting a beauty in line and contour as in no other golf club. This type supplied in either Driver or Brassie.

No. RN. Longer in face and narrower from face to back. A splendid type of club from standpoint of practical playing efficiency. This type supplied in either Driver, Brassie or Spoon.

The Jacobus Patent Triple Insert combined with Rigden Patent Head gives all the features described above of the Rigden Patent Head, and, in addition, provides a wooden club with an exceedingly hard driving surface, obtained by inserting specially prepared mahogany segments so that the impact is imparted to the ball by the end of the grain of the wood. Recommended by numerous players as the best wooden club made.

The different models in which these Biddle Patent Wood Clubs are made are varied in the proper degrees to secure the requisite range of flight to accommodate almost any course condition possible to be covered by a wood club. This cut gives a good idea of the relative positions of Ball and "Skooter" Club when at rest. It has been demonstrated that on a full stroke with a wood club, a rubber cored golf ball is compressed about one-third, in some cases possibly more than one-third, and with the "Skooter" Patent Club it is given a rounded surface to wrap over, leaving ball in longer and closer contact than with ordinary wood club, and thus helping both direction and length of flight. Toe of club does not catch and this waves throwing hands forward and slicing

SPALDING "SEELY" PATENT IRONS

When ordering, mention "Seely" Patent. Patented May 14, 1912

A study of the patents and experiments in iron clubs during recent years demonstrates the desire of both players and manufacturers to reduce the weights of the hosels. We have had hosels short, perforated, split—anything, in fact—which seemed to offer a solution to the problem. Mr. Seely's patent, based upon an entirely different theory, is the practical solution. The substitution of the steel prongs for the round hosel actually reduces the weight of that part of the head one and one-half ounces, enabling us to place that additional weight in the blade, increasing the driving power and producing a club lighter in weight, more effective for distance and of better balance.

SPALDING "OFFSET" IRONS

"They Almost Think"

As every golfer has been told, he should look at the bottom of his club—the sole—to enable him to aim accurately, but how many can concentrate their minds on that essential point? They will involuntarily "sight" the top of the iron and then, correcting themselves, "split the difference," with results which while possibly not disastrous as far as general direction is concerned, nevertheless mean the necessity of an extra stroke that could as well have been avoided.

An innovation that is at the same time an improvement is found in the "Offset" style of irons. If a player is inclined to "pull" or "slice" his iron shots, there is no better means of correcting the habit than by the use of an "Offset." They are self-centering—shaft centers on center of face—the club automatically sets itself, with the result that much mental effort is eliminated and the player left free to enjoy his game.

Especially in the mashie does the value of the "Offset" manifest itself, and those with the unfortunate habit of "heeling" the mashie shot will quickly realize that it is impossible to do so with an "Offset" iron. It has been demonstrated also that in putting, the "Offset" will help the player obtain greater accuracy than he can ordinarily with the regular putter, and with the Mashie Niblic, the Niblic, the Push Iron, Cleek, and Jigger the advantages of the "Offset" style are really remarkable.

Forged from finest mild steel. The "Offset" clubs have proven very popular in England and they are in the bags of the best players in this country. Supplied only in models as shown: Mashie, Mashie Niblic, Niblic, Push Iron, Cleek, and Jigger No. 2. Specially prepared calf grip. Mention "Offset" and model name when ordering. Each, $2.50

CECIL LEITCH

HOLDER OF
'OPEN LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP
ENGLISH LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP
FRENCH LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP

WITH the proficiency that is being shown by women players in golf and tennis and the increased interest on the part of women in general in outdoor sport, a demand has arisen for distinctive literature written especially for women players instead of the latter being obliged to follow books of instruction written by and for men primarily. ¶ Miss Leitch's book has gone through three editions in England and will undoubtedly meet with much favor among women golfers in America.

With an Introduction by Miss Marion Hollins.
